TWO DIVORCES GRANTED

Judge Burns Presides at Jury Waived Session in Superior Court

Two divorces were granted this morning in the jury waived session of superior court with Judge William
A. Burns of Pittsfield on the bench.

Both cases were uncontested.

Louise A. Dionne of Lowell, was granted a decree from John A. Dionne for a statutory offense. She was given the custody of a minor child. The couple were married in Laconia, N. H., and lived there about a year before coming to Lowell.

Mary D. Hanzel, now of Fitchburg, was granted a decree from Peter Banzel, now of parts unknown, on the grounds of desertion. Mrs. Banzel, who is French, and her husband, who is Italian, were married in Lowell in 1915, and went to Boston on a honeymoon. Mrs. Banzel said that her husband left her one morning after they had been in Boston a week in search for work. She has not seen him since that time.

Jury Session

The case of Gray vs. Harris et al.
is still being tried in the jury session of superior court. The case started yesterday and probably will not be given to the jury until late today. The suit is the result of a real estate deal in which the plaintiff alleges he is due $1000 commission.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING

No Action Taken on Communication Relative to Renaming Streets and Squares

Order Presented for Purchase of Washington Park for Playgrounds Purposes

A communication from the American Legion relative to the renaming of certain streets and squares of the city for men who died in action in the world war, a recommendation from the park commission that Washington park be acquired for playground purposes, appropriations for the charity department and outdoor relief, a transfer from the general treasury fund to the fund for sewer maintenance and a loan order for the construction of school houses were the main items of business brought before the meeting of the municipal council today.

Mayor Perry D. Thompson called the meeting to order at 10:15 a. m. with all members present. An order for the erection of an electric light pole in Jewett street brought forth one remonstrant, and the matter was referred to the commissioners of streets and highways and public property.
Requests for gasoline licenses in two garages were referred to the commissioners of water works and fire protection.

J. H. Gilbride, Esq., presented a communication from the Lowell post, American Legion for the consideration of the council. The communication was as follows:

The undersigned committee of the American Legion was appointed some time ago for the purpose of naming streets and squares in this city for men from Lowell who lost their lives in action during the world war. This work is done of course subject to the approval of your body in which lies the legal power necessary to make the recommendation of the legion effective.
The committee presents the following partial report:

The intersection of Bridge and First streets and Lakeview avenue be known as George F. Rogers square.

The intersection of Church and Central streets as Manuel Martin square.

Chetwood and Westford streets, Edward A. Nelson square.

Pawtucket and Merrimack streets as
J. Douglas Rivet square.

Westerly Junction of Middlesex and Branch streets as Lorne L. Cuyper square.

Lewis and Market streets as Athan-asios Michalopoulos square.

The district of the square created by the widening of what was formerly known as Locke street be known as Thomas Mann square.

The committee was appointed with instructions to inform the council that the legion approved and endorsed the action of the council with respect to the naming of squares.

The committee is of the opinion that it will cost about $15 suitably to designate each of the squares to be named, that there are in all about 54 places to be named and the committee is of the opinion that it will cost

AMERICAN LEGION EMPLOYMENT BUREAU

The new American Legion employment bureau which has just opened an office in city hall is engaged at present in getting the unemployed service men registered. As fast as they receive requisitions for help the men will be sent out with letters of introduction.

Mr. Rutledge, who is in charge of the bureau, states that yesterday he received about 25 men with letters of this sort and about a dozen of them received employment. He suggests that much assistance can be given the new bureau if the general public, employers and members of the legion in executive positions will send their requisitions for help to him, thus enabling him to place some of the service men in need of work.

ARMISTICE DAY OBSERVANCE HERE

Although the municipal council has taken no official action in regard to the Armistice day observance next Friday, it is understood that they will follow out the plans arranged by the American Legion. At the present time there is but one stumbling block to the execution of the plans and that is in connection with the firing of salutes in Lucy Lacombe park. The proximity of St. Anne's church, which has many costly windows which might be shattered by the discharge of the salutes necessitates some investigation on the part of the mayor as to the advisability of permitting this part of the program to be carried out.
Members of the legion state that if only a small charge were used there would be no damage done, but the mayor will consider the matter fully.

THE HOLIDAY PROBLEM

What to do About Closing
Friday is the Important Question

Stores and Mills Are Still Undecided—Schools Will Close

While things are still somewhat unsettled, it is the general belief that Friday, Armistice day, will be given genuine holiday observance there.

Gov. Cox, while urging the public to observe the memorial day wherever possible, cannot declare it a legal holiday under the law, as such authority in Massachusetts is vested solely in the legislature. The governor, however, believes that the day will be generally observed by the closing of business places and the showing of respect for the glorious dead.

Mill agents interviewed this morning, with the exception of Agent Mitchell, of the Massachusetts mills, who said these mills would certainly close Friday, told The Sun that no action had yet been taken toward closing the doors on Friday. At the Merrimack office, it was stated that the agents and treasurers would probably meet sometime tomorrow morning and take final action. There is a probability that the mills will be closed, at least during some portion of the day.

The storekeepers have not yet decided what they will do, but it was freely admitted by several of them that in all probability the stores would close Thursday night and remain closed until Saturday morning.

"We are making arrangements to close, and definite announcement will be made this afternoon or tomorrow morning," one store manager said.

Lowell schools will be closed Friday, announcement being made this morning to the pupils. Teachers in every room requested the pupils to serve the holiday as one in which memorial thoughts for the glorious dead should be held first place.

TWO BROTHERS INJURED

Henri L. and Arthur E.
Turcotte Hurt in Auto
Crash This Morning

Henri L. and Arthur E. Turcotte, sons of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Turcotte of 553 Ketchikan street, were painfully injured early this morning when the Ford coupe, owned by their brother, Lucien P. L. Turcotte of Wannanah street, in which they were riding, was wrecked in a collision with an automobile truck at the corner of Merrimack and Cabot streets. After the crash the truck swerved onto the sidewalk, breaking off a white way pole which fell on the sidewalk within a few inches of the large plate glass window of the store of the Lowell Confectionery Co., numbered 655 Merrimack street.

Witnesses of the accident say they consider it a miracle that the Turcotte brothers escaped alive, for boxed in the little machine as they were, they had no chance to escape when the collision occurred. They were both cut painfully about the head, face, hands, shoulders and legs by glass from the windshield.

The accident occurred shortly after 7:30 o'clock. It seems that the Ford coupe was being operated down Merrimack street, while the truck, a big moving van owned by Messrs. Bros. and operated by Patrick G. Bradley of 54 Branch street, was proceeding through Cabot street. When the junction of Merrimack and Cabot streets was reached, the two machines came together. The coupe was pushed on one side and the big truck crashed into the white way pole, breaking it off at its base. Shortly after the accident the Turcotte brothers were removed to the Lowell Corporation hospital, where they received treatment. They were able to return to their home later.

GEN. PERSHING TO TRUDGE AFOOT

A. E. F. Commander Declines to Ride at Head of Funeral Escort

Regards Himself as Mourner at Funeral of Unknown Hero

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Gen. Pershing will trudge afoot all the long way from the capital to Arlington cemetery next Friday, to pay honor to America's unknown soldier.

The leader, under whom the unknown hero served in France, declined today to serve as grand marshal and ride at the head of the funeral escort.

As chief of the American Expeditionary Forces, Gen. Pershing regards himself as a mourner at the symbolic funeral and he will walk the five miles, taking his place just after President Harding and the cabinet members.

The body of the unknown soldier will reach home shores shortly after 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Orders went out from the navy department today to the cruiser Olympia, bearing the unknown dead, to dock at the Washington navy yard at that hour. The historic cruiser, flagship of Admiral Dewey at Manila bay, was reported early today as having passed within the Virginia Capes.

Announcement was made today that King Ferdinand of Rumania had awarded the highest military decoration of his nation, known as the Rumanian Virtutea Militara, to the unknown soldier. The decoration will be placed upon the casket during the ceremonies at Arlington by the Rumanian minister.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The 700,000 school teachers of the United States were urged today by the National Education association, to impress upon their pupils the true significance of Armistice day. "This should be the call said, "to the end that the ciate themselves in earnest appreciation of the preservation of democratic ness."

DR. RODRIGUE MIGNAULT'S HAT IS IN THE MAYORALTY RING

Doctor's Announcement Provides Eleventh Hour Sensation in Mayoralty Contest—
Another Woman in School Board Fight

The eleventh hour sensation of the mayoralty contest was furnished last yesterday afternoon, when Dr. Rodrigue Mignault appeared at the office of the election commission to apply for nomination papers as a candidate for mayor.

There has been widespread speculation since the passage of the new charter as to whether the voters of wards six and seven would present a candidate for this office, but of late the idea has prevailed that such would not be the case. On this account there has been noticeable activity on the part of some of the candidates in the hope of securing the support of the voters of these wards and the reports of their efforts have been many and varied. The doctor's entrance, therefore, entirely upsets their calculations, and from now on, the other candidates will be forced to change their plan of campaign radically, since it will be conceded that the new candidate is likely to attract the support of the citizens in these sections.

Dr. Rodrigue Mignault has been a candidate for the mayoralty on three previous occasions, in the years 1913, 1915 and 1917. In 1917 he was high man at the primaries, but after a hard-fought contest he was defeated by the present mayor, Perry D.
Thompson. On both of the other occasions he proved to be a strong

American and Canadian Officials Act to Reduce Smuggling of Liquor Into U. S.

smuggling of liquor across the border to a minimum, it was announced today at federal prohibition headquarters.

Pres. Harding and Cabinet Discuss Plans to End Wave of Postal Robberies

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Means of bringing an end to the wave of postal robberies throughout the country were discussed today by President Harding and his cabinet, and it was indicated after the meeting that Postmaster General Hays probably would have a statement to make in the near future on the subject.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—This being an off-year in state and national politics, municipal contests featured the annual fall elections held throughout the country today.

Only one state, Virginia, is electing a governor, the rival candidates being State Senator E. Lee Trinkle, democrat, and Henry D. Anderson, republican. A heavy vote is expected.

Several states are electing new legislatures in whole or in part. Kentucky elects 20 senators and 100 representatives, in addition to circuit judges and complete county tickets.
The house is now republican by a small majority, while the democrats

HUNDREDS JOIN IN MAN HUNT

Posses Searching for Ten Bandits Who Held Up Train Near Paxton, Ill.

Yeggs Wounded Four Train-men, Stole Two Pouches of Mail and Set Fire to Car

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—E. A. Germer, chief postal inspector, at noon announced that the loot obtained by robbers who held up an Illinois Central train near Paxton, Ill., last night, fought a 45-minute battle with train crew and passengers, wounding five men and dynamited and burned the mail car, would total approximately $400.

The bandits, however, missed the most valuable pouch in the car, railroad officials stated, and it was believed that it was this particular pouch which was sought.

In the midst of the search for the mail clerks were forced to throw pouches from the car, one of them threw out a sack of newspapers.

"Where do you get that stuff?" one of the bandits declared, "You know what pouch we want, throw it out here."

The pouch, believed to contain the fortune, was thrown out, carried a short distance from the train by the bandits, and was, for some reason, dropped and later recovered by the train crew.

The Most Marvelous Girl in The World Is Blind and Deaf

HEARING BY FEELING. SEEING BY SMELLING—WILLETTA HUGGINS, LISTENING TO THE TELEPHONE WITH HER FINGER TIPS AND DECIDING THE COLOR OF A GARMENT BY ITS ODOR.

JANESVILLE, Wis., Nov. 8.—The most marvelous girl in the world is just beginning to do marvels for other girls and for boys, too.

She is Willetta Huggins, whose eyes are blind and whose ears are deaf, but who sees by smelling and hears by feeling.

Willetta is 16 and an inmate of the Wisconsin School for the Blind here. Before Willetta became totally blind and deaf she was far from a marvel; frankly, her teachers thought her stupid and indolent.

Often they lost patience with her. They "just couldn't get things through her head." At 10 years of age she had got only so far as the second grade and was really a problem for her grandmother, who was rearing her with her two sisters and one brother.

Attends School

Then a teacher, a little more inclined to investigation than the others, found by some simple tests that Willetta couldn't see well or hear well. She was brought to the attention of a field agent for the school for the blind, who took her to the institution.

For several years, despite the most sympathetic attention and scientific methods of the officials and teachers at the school, Willetta didn't improve much. Her disposition, if anything, grew worse.

Two years ago she became deaf; a year ago she became blind. For a week she was more morose. If anything, than before, then one day suddenly came an awakening—the result of her sudden perception of her powers of smelling and feeling.

Excels Helen Keller

Today Willetta Huggins, through the development of her powers of smelling and feeling, has become more marvelous than even Helen Keller.

"Maybe it is a gift of God in return for the loss of my sight and hearing," is Willetta's only explanation.

Some have been skeptical. They thought the girl still had some powers of vision. To convince them she was given yarn of six colors, in six separate envelopes, and locked in a bank vault at Chippewa Falls. In this blackness she opened the envelopes, smelled the yarn, wrote the color of each strand on an envelope, and put the yarn of that color in its respective envelope. When the vault was opened it was found she had made no mistake.

Hears by Feeling

She can hear by feeling vibrations. If she talks over the telephone, she merely places the tip of her finger on the receiver diaphragm. If she is listening to someone converse, she rests her finger lightly on the person's throat, shoulder or chest.

So acute is her sense of hearing by feeling, that she can tell what Superintendent J. T. Hooper of the school is saying by standing 10 feet from him, and taking hold of the end of a wooden pole, the other end of which rests on the top of his head.

Willetta recently visited Governor John J. Blaine at the state capitol at Madison. She listened to him by placing her fingers on his shoulder, and she easily told the colors of his coat by smelling it.

Tells Size of Bills

Major E. A. Fitzpatrick, secretary of the state board of education, said to Willetta:

"Can you tell the denominations of bills?"

"Surely," she said.

He tested her with $1, $2, $5 and $10 greenbacks. She identified each.

"How do you do it?" he marveled.

"By feeling the numerals," she said.

She tells the number of persons in a room by her sense of smell. A cat entered a room noiselessly. "Who let the cat in?" she inquired, immediately.

"I smell it."

She told Governor Blaine: "I am more happy without my vision and hearing than I was before. I guess it's because I understand better, by smelling and feeling—and so I make others understand me better."

Superintendent's Plan

That Superintendent Hooper of the school sees a far-reaching lesson in all this. Briefly it is:

"Willetta was miserable for years because she was misunderstood. She was being forced to use her senses of seeing and hearing, which were quite deficient, while the proper thing would have been to develop her senses of smelling and feeling, which were quite extraordinary."

"There is such a balance in every one. So now, with Willetta's aid, we are trying to work out a system which will enable us to understand this balance, and to give the world advantage of it for the training of other children."

Hundreds Join in Man Hunt

held to the New Orleans Limited, on the Illinois Central railroad, two miles south of here, wounded four train employees, stole two pouches of registered mail, and escaped after setting fire to the mail car.

Fled in Automobile

No trace of the robbery had been found early today, the only aid in the search being a statement by members of the train crew that they headed west in two automobiles. Squads of Chicago police guarded all roads entering that city and the alarm was telephoned to all Central Illinois towns.

The passengers were molested in one instance, K. H. Kowloon of Freeport, Ill., getting three bullet holes in his coat when he and three companions went up to the mail car and fired on the bandits as the latter were milking the engine crew and two mail clerks huddled in the mail car.

Dynamite Mail Car Door

They ordered the train to stop to a small bridge over a stream two miles farther south where the train was stopped. After the crew had been ordered to break the train, the engineer and fireman were forced to pull the mail car because cars farther up the track, leaving the other nine coaches on the other side of the stream to prevent interference by passengers. Eight other men appeared from automobiles and began the assault on the mail car.

On a threat of shooting the engineer and fireman if the mail car was not opened the robbers forced the mail car open and began to plunder inside, the door was slammed shut.

Several charges of dynamite and firing from revolvers and shotguns finally forced the door in and a hand-to-hand battle ensued which ended only when the robbers had thrown two bombs into the car and a fire brand which smoked out the four men inside. When the clerks came out with the sacks containing registered mail to save themselves from being burned the bandits jumped into their machines and left.

The train crew booked up the train again without the mail car and proceeded to Champaign where the injured were sent to a hospital.

Engineer Describes Holding

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 8.—J. F. Fogarty, engineer of the train held up near Paxton, last night, and the only member of the train crew who took part in the attack and escaped unhurt, described the holding and his experiences today.

"The first intimation I had of the robbery came shortly after we left Paxton," he said. "I heard a grunt, turned around and a masked man clambered down beside me, thrusting a revolver into my ribs. Another had the fireman covered."

"Stick 'em up," he shouted. "Before I could reply he had me slow down and run on down to the bridge across the Vermillion river."

"How many mail coaches are there?" he asked.

"I told him there were four. He had a bunch of men waiting at the river and had me flash the headlights twice to let them know all was well. The bandit allowed me to send a man to flag other trains. Then he forced me to climb down and go back to the mail car."

"The mail clerks ordered us to halt. 'Don't shoot, I'm the engineer,' I cried at the command of one of the bandits."

"The mail clerks slammed the door shut. The bandits waited a short time, then placed a stick of dynamite under the mail car. It wasn't strong enough to wreck the car, but another blast opened the door."

"A moment later one of the clerks was lying on one side with a gasp in his head and the other was standing with his arms high in the air alongside the car. Two of the men blew the safe.

"By this time the passengers were being in our direction. From the cars in front armed guards poured a stream of bullets toward the mail car. Flames from gasoline or waste ignited by the explosions, began to light up the interior of the car. They made us throw out the papers."

"I looked at Banks, the fireman, who was lying a short distance from me. He signalled to jump and we both ran, but I was untouched. I crawled beneath the pilot of the engine with Banks and another man."

"Under the cars we were partly protected from the bandits but the shot bullets fired by passengers partly endangered us. As the light from the burning car mounted, the bandits evidently either frightened or satisfied with what they had found, slowly backed to the end of the bridge and slipped into the darkness. When the automobile started and they were gone."

Settlement Up To Ulster

of an Irish settlement. The situation is frankly admitted in official circles to have reached a critical stage.

Success or failure of the peace negotiations now rest with Ulster. In the opinion of Sinn Fein delegates here who declare that their proposals to the British premier with respect to Ulster are liberal enough to allow of a settlement if Ulster so chooses.

Lloyd George May Resign

The serious view taken in official circles is said to be due to the stiff attitude assumed by Sir James in his conferences with Premier Lloyd George. He is represented as signifying that the proposed basis of settlement submitted by the British premier would, in his opinion, seriously impair Ulster's rights. Should this attitude be upheld by the Ulster cabinet and the government proposals rejected, it is regarded as possible that Mr. Lloyd George will carry out his threat to tender his resignation as prime minister. Everything, consequently, is thought to hinge upon Thursday's developments.

Michael Collins and George Gavan Duffy, members of the Sinn Fein delegation who have been in Dublin conferring with Eamon de Valera, left for London last night, but Sinn Fein headquarters here declared there could be no developments on the side until after the British and Ulster premiers conclude their conference.

The members of the Ulster cabinet who will come to London will include John Milne Barbour, the Marquis of Londonderry, U. N. Andrews and E. A. Archdale. They will be accompanied by Thomas Niles, chairman of the committee of the Ulster parliament.

Although the morning newspapers generally recognize that the calling of the Ulsterites to London is a significant step, which cannot fail to produce important developments, they do not accept the view that it indicates a further hardening of Ulster's attitude or adds to the acuteness of the situation. They point out that it has been recognized from the start that Ulster was not likely to moderate its known point of view or meet suggestions of compromise with alacrity.

What seems to have happened, according to several accounts, is that the Ulster premier has merely consented to examine the proposals with his colleagues. Upon those proposals, in the opinion of the British and Sinn Fein negotiators, Dominion home rule for all Ireland might be based without infringing Ulster's autonomy or offending Irish national opinion.

The outstanding fact, says the Times, is that the peace negotiations are now in progress and Ulster no longer stands completely aloof.

Important Meeting

LONDON, Nov. 8.—(By the Associated Press)—An important meeting for consideration of peace of the Irish question was held in Downing street this morning, the participants being the majority of the government's negotiators, including Prime Minister Lloyd George, Winston Churchill, Austen Chamberlain, Lord Birkenhead and Sir Gordon Howarth.

It is believed the meeting mainly concerned itself with the final steps necessary to fulfill the government's pledge to Ulster that the Ulster parliament would be enabled to function properly and be provided with funds.

Action along these lines, it is pointed out, does not seriously affect the general negotiations for an Irish settlement.

Legionnaires Endorse Action of Council Relative to Renaming Merrimack Square

Lowell post 87, American Legion, at the regular meeting in Memorial hall last evening, voted to endorse the action taken by the city council some time ago in renaming Merrimack square to Lieut. Paul T. Kearney square.

The endorsement of the stand taken by the council in changing the name of Merrimack square to Kearney square came as a climax to a long discussion of the matter during which bitter denunciations of those who opposed the change were voiced.

The discussion of the Merrimack square matter was only second in importance to the nomination of officers for the ensuing year. After all the routine business had been transacted, nominations were opened by Commander James J. Powers and the following were selected: For commander, Stephen C. Garrity, now senior vice-commander, and James J. Hogan, vice-commander, and James J. Hogan, vice-commander, and James J. Hogan, vice-commander.

For senior vice-commander, John T. McDermott, new junior vice-commander, the only nominee. Likewise, Daniel J. Brennan was the sole nominee presented for the office of junior vice-commander, and James J. Hogan, vice-commander, and James J. Hogan, vice-commander.

It should be noted that the officer who now holds the same title, John T. McDermott, is now a member of the 40th Machine Gun Battalion.

3rd Rewriting of Tax Measure

lasting nearly 16 hours. It will be continued to the house when that body convenes tomorrow and a republican leaders there plan to send it to conference Thursday. It may reach the president for his approval late in the month.

At a rough estimate, treasury experts say the bill in its present form would net approximately $2,250,000,000, or $200,000,000 less than the present law and about the amount of revenue which treasury officers have said the government must have. Eventually, the bill, the experts assert, would reduce the nation's tax bill by about $700,000,000 a year.

Agree On Major Provisions

While they undoubtedly will have many changes in the measure, the conferees are not expected to materially alter the total of revenue. As the bill now stands, there are first three major provisions on which the house and senate agree. They are: First, the retention of the present 10 per cent. on corporate capital stock.

Other outstanding provisions of the bill are: A reduction in the maximum estate tax rate from 50 per cent. on all over $100,000 to 40 per cent. on all over $200,000, as against the house reduction to 30 per cent. on all over $200,000.

Retention of the house provision granting increased normal exemptions of $500 to heads of families having net incomes of $200 or less, and $200 on account of dependents.

Repeal of the $2000 normal exemption on corporations except in the case of those having net incomes of $25,000 or less.

An increase in the estate tax maximum rate from 50 per cent. on all over $100,000 to 40 per cent. on all over $200,000, as against the house reduction to 30 per cent. on all over $200,000.

A provision taxing gifts of property by any person at rates ranging from one per cent. on the amount between $20,000 and $50,000 to 25 per cent. on all over $100,000.

Repeat: The excise taxes on chewing gum, ring goods, musical instruments, electric fans and many other articles as well as the stamp taxes on proprietary medicines and toilet preparations. The levies on fountain drinks and ice cream also are out.

Fight On Income Surtax Rate

The big fight between the senate and house is expected to develop over the income surtax rate with the general belief at both ends of the capitol that the conferees will reach a compromise at a figure around 40 per cent. House republicans believe they can stretch the movement among some republicans from western states to have the house instruct its managers to accept the senate maximum rate.

In the final drive in the senate last night to pass the bill, many amendments were offered, but few of them were accepted. The most important of those approved was that taxing gifts of property, which is designed to prevent evasion of the surtax by wealthy individuals by a distribution of their property among their relatives.

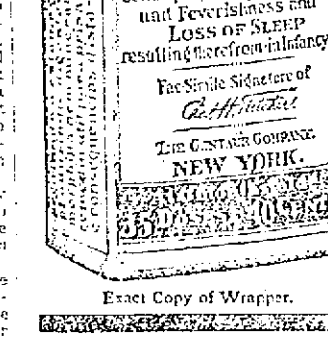

Under another amendment passed realized by taxpayers from the sale of corporation stock would be taxed on the full amount instead of on only 40 per cent. as it was claimed would be the case had the capital asset definition in the bill remained unchanged.

The debate on the Simmons and McGowan amendments, proposing compensation for the former service men, consumed the first five hours of the session. Both proposals were rejected by decisive votes, the Simmons amendment 42 to 29, and the McGowan amendment 41 to 25.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

GEN. DIAZ AT NEWPORT

Commander-in-Chief of the Armies of Italy Begins Three-Day Rest

NEWPORT, R. I., Nov. 5.—Feted almost continuously since his arrival in this country, Gen. Armando Diaz, commander-in-chief of the armies of Italy, was to come here this afternoon for a three-day rest. He will be the guest of Dr. George Cerio, a personal friend, until late Thursday, when he will go to Washington to participate in the ceremonies in honor of America's unknown soldier.

BURKE HEAD OF BOSTON SCHOOL

BOSTON, Nov. 5.—Jeremiah E. Burke was elected superintendent of the Boston public schools last night at a special meeting of the school board.

ed by a destroyer at Wickford upon his arrival from New York by train. A reception committee of his fellow countrymen was to escort him aboard the destroyer and accompany him on the run through Narragansett bay to this city.

Upon his arrival here, he will be officially welcomed by Mayor J. D. Mahoney and army and navy officers of high rank. The general will then proceed to city hall under escort of a company of coast artillery where he will place a wreath on the memorial tablet erected there in honor of the city's world war dead. After brief ceremonies, he will motor to the home of Dr. Cerio.

ed assistant superintendent, taking the place left vacant on the board of assistant superintendents by the promotion of Supt. Burke.

On the first ballot for election of a superintendent, Miss Frances Curtis voted for Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools at Washington and formerly a member of the board of superintendents in Boston. Committee members of the board, Mr. Burke, then announced that as Mr. Burke seemed to be the choice of the other members of the board, she requested a second ballot, when she might vote for Mr. Burke, thus making his election unanimous.

The term of office of the superintendent expires in 1924, and the term of office of the assistant superintendent elected expires in 1927.

MRS. MARY WILHELM, Pittsburgh, Pa.

"No matter what I should say about Tanlac, it wouldn't be half good enough," said Mrs. Mary Wilhelm, 716 Mint Way, South Side, Pittsburgh, Pa. "I never dreamed it possible for a medicine to restore me to the splendid health I now enjoy. In fact, I had almost resigned myself to being an invalid, as I could see I was losing weight and strength every day, and no relief was in sight. For three years stomach trouble, headaches and nervousness made my life miserable.

"The first bottle of Tanlac acted almost like magic and it wasn't long until I was so well and strong that I could hardly realize I had ever known a sick day. I am like a different person in every way now, eating, sleeping, feeling and looking better than in years."

Tanlac and Tanlac Vegetable Pills are sold in Lowell by Green's Drug Store under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative, by Wright Drug Co., Billerica, Mass.; A. D. Fells, Chelmsford, Mass.; Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass., and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

UNKNOWN WOMAN ENDS LIFE IN BOSTON

BOSTON, Nov. 5.—Apparently despondent because of unemployment, an attractive and respectable appearing young woman, who registered at the lodging house at 655 Massachusetts avenue, South End, last Saturday morning about 10 o'clock under the name of Barbara Grayson of 309 Huntingtondale road, Worcester, committed suicide by gas.

Her body was found yesterday afternoon about 2:30 by the landlady, Mrs. Mary Campbell, who was distributing towels in the rooms. She tried the door of the woman's room on the third floor rear, and finding it locked, opened it with her pass key and was immediately met by a rush of illuminating gas, which almost overcame her.

She took a quick survey of the room and discovered the body of the young woman lying on the bed, undressed. She shut off the gas and opened all the windows, the cracks of which were stuffed with paper, as were those around the door.

The body was downstairs, notified another woman in the house, and Dr. Roy A. Sadler of 552 Massachusetts avenue was summoned. He expressed the opinion that the woman had been dead for two hours.

The local police notified the Worcester police, who later reported that no such name as Barbara Grayson appears in the city directory and there is no such number on the street given by the young woman as her home. A canvas of that neighborhood did not reveal any trace of a woman by the name of Grayson, or of any young woman missing.

BURCH, ALLEGED MURDERER, SANE

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 5.—Arthur C. Burch, indicted for murder in connection with the slaying of J. Helton Kennedy, broker, here last August, was adjudged legally sane here yesterday by Superior Judge S. N. B. The court denied a motion that Burch be granted a sanity trial before the murder case.

SWEET POTATO RECORD

South is Harvesting Largest Crop in History—Worth About $14,000

BY N. E. A. SERVICE
MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 5.—The south is harvesting the largest sweet potato crop in its history, due to increase in acreage. Total production of sweet potatoes in the United States this year will be approximately 14,000,000 bushels. More than one-fifth of the crop is being raised in Arkansas, Mississippi and Tennessee.

The average production per acre this year will be about 107 bushels, compared with 101 bushels last year. Thirteen southern states producing sweet potatoes probably will realize an average value of $12.55 per acre from this year's crop. Such a price means one dollar a bushel. Thousands of bushels have been placed in storage.

Women of Middle Age

THE critical stage of a woman's life usually comes between the years of 45 and 55, and is often beset with annoying symptoms such as nervousness irritability, melancholia, heat flashes which produce headache and dizziness, and a sense of suffocation. Guard your health carefully, for if this period be passed over safely, many years of perfect health may be enjoyed.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is especially adapted to help women through this crisis. It exercises a restorative influence, tones and strengthens the system, and assists nature in the long weeks and months covering this period. It is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and contains no harmful drugs or narcotics. Its value is proven by many such letters as these:

Afton, Tenn.—"I want other suffering women to know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. During Change of Life I was in bed for 18 months and had good care, but did not improve. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which I did, and in a short time I felt better. That was five years ago, and now when I feel run down and nervous I take the Compound and it always does me good. I wish all women would try it during Change of Life, for I know it will do them good."—Mrs. A. KELLER, Afton, Tenn.

Thomas, Okla.—"I first used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in my girlhood days, by the advice of a friend. At the age of 47 I was troubled with dizziness, hot flashes, and became very weak so that I was unable to do any work. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with the result that I felt better and stronger than I have for years. I have also given it to my three daughters, and always with good results. The Vegetable Compound is certainly grand for the ills of women."—Mrs. J. G. SWANEY, Route B, Thomas, Okla.

Milk Companies Refuse to Meet Strikers

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Big milk companies of this city have refused to open negotiations with their striking employees and plan to increase distribution of milk under police protection tomorrow. This action, coupled with a mass vote last night of the strikers not to return to work except under closed shop conditions, made it evident today that the strike might be a prolonged one.

Commencing tomorrow, 234 milk wagons will be used to sell milk at street corners along upper Broadway and Lexington avenue, Manhattan and Bedford avenue, Brooklyn. Each wagon will be supplied with a police guard, while squads of motor cycle police will patrol each district in which the hucksters work.

Beauty Specialist Tells Secret

A Beauty Specialist Gives Home-Made Recipe to Darken Gray Hair

Mrs. M. D. Gillespie, a well known beauty specialist of Kansas City, recently gave out the following statement regarding gray hair:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and 4 ounces of glycerine.

These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off."—Adv.

If I ate anything that was not easily digested I was sure to suffer. I tried many medicines but nothing seemed to give me any permanent relief until I began taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. INGROWN TOE NAIL

Turns Out Itself

A noted authority says that a few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrown nail reduces inflammation and pain and softens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally out almost over night. "Outgro" is a harmless, antiseptic, manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.—Adv.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The German mark continued to fall on the London exchange market today breaking to a new low record of 1225 to the pound sterling before noon under heavy offering. There were few buyers, the belief prevailing that the rate will depreciate still further.

GOLD STAR MOTHER IN MAINE DELEGATION GETS RIDE IN PATROL

AUGUSTA, Me., Nov. 8.—The wish that Mrs. Edwin A. McKenney of Bangor, Maine's gold star mother, place the wreath for this state on the grave of the unknown soldier at Arlington cemetery on Armistice day, was expressed today by Governor Baxter, when he completed the personnel of the official party with the appointment of three enlisted men from the army and one from the navy. He suggested that the wreath be carried to the grave by the enlisted men and that Mrs. McKenney and the wreath bearers be escorted by the other members of the party. The enlisted men are John J. Ward, Portland; Raymond H. Carter, Bangor; and Walter G. Lissard, Bangor, representing the army, and Phillip De Mott, Portland, representing the navy. The other members of the party are Adj. Gen. John A. Hadley, Col. Albert Greenleaf, Capt. George E. O'Connell, Portland; O. O. Roberts, Dexter, said to be the only Civil war veteran in Maine decorated with the Congressional Medal of Honor, and Maj. Edward E. Philbrook, of Portland, who served in the Philippines with the 46th Infantry, United States volunteers.

SACRAMENTAL WINES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Representatives of wine dealers and religious denominations were granted a hearing today by the justice department on the question of the legality of permitting wholesale dealers in sacramental wine to do business under the national prohibition laws. The department is preparing an opinion in answer to a request from Secretary Mellon as to whether a ruling by former Attorney General Palmer prohibiting wholesale liquor dealers from doing business, included dealers in wines for religious purposes.

AUTO INTOXICATION

Like the other organs of the stomach, the blood for strength and nourishment to sustain it in its daily work. If the blood is impure the stomach receives a supply loaded with poisons, or "toxins" as they are called. Thus the body poisons itself, a process known by physicians as "auto-intoxication," or self-poisoning.

Oxygen is the element in nature that will render these poisons harmless and transform them chemically so that they may be cast out by the ordinary processes of the body. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enable the blood to absorb in large quantities the oxygen that is in the air we breathe and in this way they combat the poisons in the blood and enable it to restore the digestive organs to health and strength.

Every dyspeptic should have a copy of our diet book which is mailed free to any address. Send postal card request for a copy today.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or direct from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., on receipt of price, 60 cents per box.—Adv.

Charity Department

An order appropriating the sum of $15,000 from the general treasury fund, for the charity department, was adopted. Another order for the appropriation of $5000 from the general treasury fund, for the outdoor relief, was also voted after the mayor had stated that the general lack of employment in the city was responsible for such action. A transfer of $4200 from the general treasury fund to the fund for sewer maintenance was also made at the request of Commissioner Murphy. An order to borrow the principal sum of $20,000 for the construction of school houses, was ordered advertised in accordance to the law. An order for the borrowing of the principal sum of $10,000 for fire engine houses was ordered advertised after Commissioner Salmon had stated that the money was for the furnishing of the new fire house in the Highlands and the purchase of apparatus for the new house.

Washington Park

An order calling for the purchase of Washington park for park purposes was presented, but laid on the table pending the time that the city solicitor draw the necessary papers for the taking of the land by right of eminent domain.

The order was introduced through the efforts of the Lower Middlesex Improvement association. The mayor stated that although in his opinion this was not the proper time for such action because the funds of the city were rather low, the park board has favored the proposition at a recent meeting and its members are willing to assume all responsibilities. His Honor stated that the park board in a communication sent to the council pointed out that they are acquainted with the city's finances, but that is being offset by the recent necessity of a park in that district. He further stated that in his opinion there was only one way out of it and that was to instruct the city solicitor to prepare the necessary papers for the taking of the land by right of eminent domain, and it was so voted.

An order was voted for the laying of concrete sidewalks in front of premises numbered 432-444 Market street and 57 Jefferson street, the abutters to pay half the expense. The meeting then adjourned until 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Turks to Get Big Loan From France

ANGORA, Nov. 8.—(By the Associated Press).—After an exchange of ratifications of the treaty between France and the Turkish National government, the National Assembly has authorized the finance minister to contract a loan in France of 10,000,000 Turkish pounds. (A Turkish pound normally is worth about $4.39). The proceeds of the loan will be used to meet the requirements of the army.

LADY SO WEAK SHE COULD SCARCELY WALK

After Years of Suffering Quickly Regains Strength

Mrs. T. R. Crane of St. Johnland, Kings Park, Long Island, N. Y., writes: "I suffered for years with non assimilation of food, gas and bloating to a very distressing degree, nervousness, nervous chills and irregular and weak heart action. I lost flesh and strength until I was scarcely able to walk from weakness. My limbs got so numb and weak that when I tried to walk even a short distance I felt I must sit down at once if I didn't want to fall down."

"A friend told me that what I needed was Vincarnal, that it would be the best thing in the world for me. I took Vincarnal and such it proved to be in my case. It helped me in every way, and did it quickly. I soon gained new flesh and blood, strength and vim. I feel alive once more. I always keep Vincarnal on hand for I found it a friend, trial and true."

Vincarnal is a Tonic, a Restorative, a Bloodmaker and a Nerve-strengthening agent. It supplies to the system those mineral elements without which the body is absolutely unable to create necessary vital energy and nerve force. That is why Mrs. Crane improved so rapidly while taking Vincarnal. The same result has followed the use of Vincarnal in thousands of similar and equally pitiful cases. It has been recommended by more than 10,000 physicians who, from personal experience, have found Vincarnal to possess extraordinary power in promoting health in those who are weak, nervous or run-down, or who are martyrs to indigestion or enfeebled by Old Age, or who are striving vainly to regain their strength after a wasting illness.

Vincarnal is put up in two sizes—$1.10 and $1.95. It is sold by all first class drug stores.

Write for free instructive booklet, "Hundred Per Cent Health—How to Obtain It," to Edward Leasing, Inc., Dept. G, 400 West 23d street, New York, U. S. Agents for Vincarnal.—Adv.

By N. E. A. Service
 AGUA PRIETA, Mexico, Nov. 6.—Dix ever hear of a $250,000 smile? Jim Joe, Chinaman merchant prince of Agua Prieta, has one.

Today he is worth a quarter of a million, and has given thousands of dollars to charity.

NEW AMERICANIZATION PLAN SUGGESTED

A new Americanization plan, the adoption of which would materially aid the work of reducing illiteracy in the United States, is suggested by Congressman John Jacob Rogers in a letter sent to Dr. Payson Smith, state commissioner of education. Congressman Rogers suggests that the state make arrangements with the federal census bureau to secure the names of all illiterates in the state.

He said, in part, that in Lowell, out of 30,509 persons more than 10 years of age, 2231, or one out of every 14 or 15, cannot write in any language. He believes that the evening schools and the state Americanization units, will be enabled with the census data before them to greatly out down this number. The congressman believes the work of transcribing the names from the census rolls would not cost more than $5000.

YEAST SOON BANISHES UGLY SKIN BLEMISHES

When Taken With Iron In Convenient Tablet Form

Everyone is now familiar with the splendid results brought about by yeast in treating such skin troubles as pimples, boils, blackheads, etc.

But there were thousands of people who couldn't eat common baking yeast, due to its disagreeable taste. So it remained to certain prominent scientists to find a way in which yeast could be taken in pleasant and convenient tablet form. The result of their research is Ironized Yeast, which is now the approved vitamin tonic treatment.

People everywhere are now taking Ironized Yeast and the results reported are almost unbelievable. Not only is Ironized Yeast fine for clearing up the complexion, it brings equally remarkable results in treating thinness, low vitality, nervousness, weakness, poor appetite and other symptoms of run-down conditions. Even after the first few days people say they notice decidedly beneficial effects from Ironized Yeast.

This is because Ironized Yeast is rich in vitamins, which have been found absolutely essential to good health. Modern cooking robs even our best foods of these all-important elements, and as a result we become run-down, sickly, nervous and thin.

Ironized Yeast contains highly concentrated brewers' yeast, which is far richer in vitamins than baking yeast, and in addition contains organic or vegetable iron, the great blood-builder. So, if you are run-down, or if you suffer with humiliating skin blemishes, you owe it to yourself to try Ironized Yeast.

Ironized Yeast is pleasant to take, keeps indefinitely, and costs about the same to the dose as common yeast, but is much more effective. Each package contains 10 days' treatment and costs only a dollar, or just 10¢ a day. Special directions for children in each package. Sold at good drug stores everywhere. Made by the Ironized Yeast company, Atlanta, Ga.—Adv.

CHRISTMAS STAMPS AND SEALS SALE

The Lowell anti-tuberculosis council opened its campaign for the sale of Christmas stamps and seals this afternoon, the first meeting of the members being called for 4.30 o'clock in chamber of commerce quarters. Mrs. Tyler A. Stevens is one of the campaign leaders, and it is expected that the holiday sale of stamps and seals will be larger than ever, as an effort will be made to place the packages in numerous stores where they can be readily obtained.

LADIES' AUXILIARY
Officers for the ensuing year will be nominated at the next meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Post 57, American Legion, it was decided at the meeting held last night. The following nominating committee was appointed: Miss Nellie Viles, chairman, Mrs. Edward McDermott and Loretta Mercer. The ladies voted to accept the invitation of the post to attend the Armistice observance at city hall, Friday. The convalescent ex-service men at the Groton hospital will be entertained by the auxiliary here at a future date. It was voted the post to furnish the transportation.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER
Miss Bella Lantagne, a popular young lady of Centralville, was agreeably surprised last evening when about eighty of her girl friends lured her to Matthew hall on Central street where she was tendered a miscellaneous shower, including many beautiful and useful presents. Miss Lantagne is soon to become the bride of John J. Rovers, a well known young man who is prominent in fraternal circles. During the evening an excellent program of entertainment was carried out, the feature of which was a mock marriage. Miss May Hewson acted as minister. Miss Nellie Thomas as bride and Miss Lillian Shea as groom. Miss Mary Burrows was flower-girl and Miss Beatrice Lajoussere ring-bearer. The ceremony was very excellent. The balance of the program included solos by Misses Alice Welch, Nellie Thomas, Catherine Dunlavy and Bella Lantagne.

lagne, a grotesque dancing specialty by Miss Mary Burrows and piano solos by Misses Beatrice Lajoussere and Anna Ecklund. The latter also played the wedding march for the mock marriage. Refreshments were served and during the latter part of the evening dancing was enjoyed to the music of Brady's orchestra. Misses Nellie Thomas, Lillian Shea, Bertha Lantagne and Eva Lantagne were a committee on arrangements.

104TH INF. VETERANS WILL HONOR FOCH

A feature of Marshal Foch's Boston visit on November 14 will be the presentation, by 104th Infantry veterans, of a replica of the boulder unveiled at Camp Bartlett last April in decoration of the regiment's colors by the French following the battle of Apremont, April 1-14, 1918. The bronze tablet by Sculptor Bruce Wilder Saville is a faithful representation of the memorable ceremony just behind the lines where in a four day fight this V.D. regiment had broken the first concerted German attack on American troops and won a decisive and prophetic Yankee victory. The French recognized this achievement by bestowing the croix de guerre on the regimental colors, where it may now be seen in the hall of flags at state house. It was the first instance in our history of the decoration of an American unit by a foreign government.

The presentation will have a distinctive setting. When the marshal arrives at the Y. D. clubhouse at 11.30 a. m. a freight car of the immortal "40 hommes 5 chevaux" model will be on the tracks opposite. It will contain its specified cargo of doughboys, some among them bearing scars of the Apremont battle. From the hospitable side door, from which a few years back they viewed most of France, they will now present to France's most illustrious son a token of their affection General W. A. Hayes of Springfield will be spokesman, and as the 104th drew its members from practically every city and town in Massachusetts, all parts of the state will be represented. A reunion dinner was planned in conjunction with the exercises which, because of unusual things, will be held at the club Thursday evening, November 17th. Generals Edwards and Cole will be guests, and every 104th man, in the eastern end of the state at least, is expected.

CANCELLING WAR LOANS

Apparently we have annoyed our morning contemporary in our objection to his practical admission that the best thing the government at Washington can do is to cancel our war loans to the allies for the alleged reasons that (a) the debtor nations cannot pay in gold, (b) if they did pay in gold the increase in the yellow metal would seriously affect our currency, and (c) if they paid in commodities, the result would injure or paralyze our industries and thereby do us more harm than good.

Thus, according to this contention voiced by our neighbor, the payment of our war loans by the allies in any form is going to hurt us awfully and hence to avert the danger, some exceedingly far-sighted people, mainly in the debtor nations and who are very solicitous for our interests, are in favor of cancelling these loans outright.

This disposal of the loans is being assiduously agitated by the press and certain statesmen representing the debtor nations; and their appeal, although in our opinion very unreasonable, will become more insistent if it is endorsed and approved by any great portion of the American press.

We are opposed to cancellation because all the arguments in favor of it are based on the assumption that because the debtor nations are unable to pay now, they can never pay.

Of course, nobody expects that these nations can pay this debt of about ten billions of dollars at this time or even in the near future; and because of this fact, the United States government has very wisely arranged for the refunding of the debt so that they can pay it at their convenience or on terms that will suit their circumstances. That, we believe, should be the limit of our concessions.

When these nations shall have recovered from the more immediate effects of the war, this whole matter will appear in a different light.

Most people will admit that it is not fair to the United States to urge the present impoverished condition of the debtor nations as a reason for cancellation, because if the facts were known, this country is not much better off industrially than some of the nations that want these debts cancelled. England, for example, is supporting her unemployed by weekly cash allowances. That is more than we can do for our service men.

Another reason why we should not cancel this debt is that we asked for nothing from the allied powers or from the defeated nations, in the line of territory or indemnity, whereas, all the leading nations with which we were associated in the war, have been given additional territory and colonies, now conveniently named mandates. Moreover, they are receiving their pro rata share of the war indemnity assessed upon Germany and Austria. Yet in spite of all these facts, some of our associates in the war think that it would be the proper thing on our part to cancel the war loans given them in their dire necessity from funds borrowed from the American people.

What makes this proposition still more objectionable is that its proponents claim that in fighting Germany the allies were fighting our battle as well as their own. In other words, they want this debt cancelled because, forsooth, they saved us from destruction by Germany.

We claim that they were in dire straits, all but beaten, and that only the entrance of the United States saved them from defeat or a compromise peace.

The interest on these loans has not been paid, although, as Senator Walsh has stated, it would come in quite handy at present to help us pay our service men part of the compensation to which they are entitled. It seems that our government is disposed to be quite generous in regard to such matters. This was well illustrated a few months ago when England sent her bill for $50,000,000 for helping transport our troops across the Atlantic. We might have credited the amount to her interest account and asked for a receipted bill; but no, we sent her Uncle Sam's check for the full amount.

The condition of the allied nations will undergo a great change in the next five or ten years and by that time, the payment of these loans may not look so very onerous. Meanwhile, however, the allies may be able to pay the interest; but whether even that shall be enforced will depend upon the plan of refunding and other developments. It is said that insistence on payment of these loans will injure us with the debtor nations. We don't see why it should; but if the loans be cancelled, the money will be used to aid those nations in beating us in the markets of the world.

It is claimed that if these nations be obliged to pay the loans, they will be unable to resist a trade invasion by Germany; but the refunding process will leave them more or less indifferent to the debt for quite a number of years.

Thus far, there has been no good reason advanced in favor of cancellation and as this money was taken from the pockets of the American people, we believe Uncle Sam will not, as our neighbor insinuates, be playing a Shylockian role by refusing to honor the promissory note that favors cancellation. We should be just before being generous; and the maxim is still true, that charity should begin at home.

The London Outlook, the Statist, the Times and several other prominent London papers are all in accord in saying that world trade cannot revive until the international debts that weigh down all countries are crossed off and wiped out. These papers assert that not until then can the foreign exchanges be quieted down.

It may be remarked that inasmuch as England has loaned heavily to other European nations that are not likely to have the ability to pay the years to come, and as the indebtedness of the allies to the United States is greater than what other nations owe England, she would be the loser by this arrangement. It will be noted, however, that these assumptions of inability to pay are all based upon present conditions in Europe and make no allowance for the powers of recuperation in the various nations overrun by war, such for example as France, which is said to be coming back quite rapidly.

The agitation for general cancellation has gone so far that it will undoubtedly be a leading subject of discussion at the arms conference at Washington, opening on Nov. 11. So far as can be judged, however, the United States authorities are not in favor of the movement and are not ready to accept the British view of the European situation as being entirely hopeless unless all debts are cancelled.

WILL ULSTER YIELD?

Recent dispatches indicate that a very critical stage has been reached in the negotiations for the settlement of the Irish question. It seems to be understood that an agreement has been reached between the Sinn Féin delegation and the representatives of the British government. Instead of calling Ireland a republic she is to be an "Associated Nation" with a central parliament in Dublin and provincial parliaments in Ulster, Cork and possibly also in Galway. So far as can be learned from the snatches of news received from London and Dublin, it appears that Ireland is to have complete self-government without any reservation whatever such as had been provided in the home rule act of 1914, restricting the powers of the local government.

This arrangement, of course, will require the rescinding of the partition act under which the Ulster parliament was established and which provided for a similar parliament in the south of Ireland, but as the republicans did not recognize this act as just or adequate, they refused to accept its provisions. An effort was made to open a parliament in the south, but with the exception of a few government officials, including a doorkeeper and some members of the Royal Irish constabulary, the parliament did not materialize. The Irish members elected merely to prevent others from filling the places, refused to attend.

The Ulster premier is now holding conferences with Lloyd George in London and of course, he will continue to protest and do some loud talking; but in the end, we believe, he will have to comply with the wishes of the prime minister. The British government has already allowed Ulster far too much latitude in creating trouble. It was Ulster that threatened rebellion in 1914, caused the withdrawal of the home rule act, which was a direct cause of the southern rebellion and all the trouble and bloodshed which have since resulted. A few weeks ago one of the London papers made an ominous remark as to what would happen if Ulster left to fight her own battles against the other provinces of Ireland. The people of that province are at the present time in a bad way as a result of the business boycott maintained by the south on account of the shipyard explosion; and this boycott is not likely to be lifted until the national question is settled.

We do not expect that Ulster will be required to make any great sacrifice, except as to her regard for compliance with the wishes of the government to enter the central parliament of Ireland with a representation based upon her numerical strength. Indeed, the south may be willing to make concessions in this respect in order to secure a united Ireland; and in any case, we do not expect that Ulster will hold out against the appeals of the prime minister and the Tory leaders of England to an extent that might lead to the resignation of the premier and smash the coalition, after which the Tories would probably be in the minority.

There is no doubt, whatever, that if the government appealed to the country on the question of forcing Ulster to agree to the arrangement reached with the south of Ireland, it would be sustained by an overwhelming majority. For this reason, we believe that Ulster will see the wisdom of yielding in the appeals of the prime minister. Refusal might result in a smashup of the entire conference, the overthrow of the government, the renewal of hostilities in Ireland and a condition that would be very much worse than any phase of the conflict as conducted during the past two years. The whole world is interested in the settlement of this question and it means much for England as well as for Ireland at the present time. The state of the world is more dependent upon the settlement of this question than most people imagine. It is therefore, to be hoped that Ulster will not run counter to the interests of Empire and of Ireland to the extent of destroying the present opportunity of settling a national question that has been a source of weakness and of danger to England and a cause of misery and suffering to Ireland for the last 70 years.

THE DIVORCE EVIL

The list of divorces granted at the ordinary court session in Lowell or any other city of its kind, is a striking commentary upon the instability of marriage as entered into by a large proportion of the couples who nowadays rush headlong into wedlock. The statistics of divorce all over the country indicate that out of every five marriages, one divorce is granted. That is a most serious state of affairs. It indicates a condition of the American home that is really alarming. Unless the business of the divorce court is reduced by at least three-fourths of what it has to do at present, the moral fabric of society and the stability, not to speak of the sanctity, of the home, will be seriously undermined. The divorce question is one that challenges the serious consideration of the religious denominations that countenance it and of the legislators who permit the marriage tie to be broken on flimsy pretexts.

The tax revision bill passed by the United States senate will offer but slight relief from the present system. The bonus amendment was again defeated. A fact that is not calculated to inspire confidence in republican promises among the service men.

We seem to think that political contests run riot here; but just think of the conditions in Boston, where Murphy, Curley, Pelletier, O'Connor and Raxter are all spouting in the majority light, and each showing why he should be preferred to the others.

Judge Enright should be sustained in his effort to drive drunken motorists off the highways. There will still remain far too many of the reckless kind.

Some political campaign workers, without doubt honest in their endeavors to promote interest in their candidates, are fast approaching the vacuum stage.

Premier Lloyd George's cancellation of his steamship passage does not mean, of course, that he is thinking of coming over in a submarine.

"Who's Who" will very properly include all who sit at the round table at the disarmament conference in Washington.

Are the dahlias bulbs all out and the April tulips bulbs all in? Then let the weatherman do his worst!

It seems that more than one aspirant for municipal honors has his "one pale moment," too!

Some of Woodrow Wilson's irreconcilable foes are now beginning to see a little light on his past performances.

Candidates who fail to land nominations might form a Salmagundi club when the smoke blows away.

SEEN AND HEARD

Scraps of paper come home to roost, too, like the German mark, for example.

German money is having a tough time, but the German trade-marks wearing no mask in American markets.

Undertakers who furnish flower baskets stamped "Made in Germany," ought to rub off the trade mark.

Sure it was a world series in New York! Didn't newspapers report it there in 45 languages?

The apostles will have to change their powder now that Dr. Stignault has thrown his Stetson into the arena.

Unnecessary Caution
A new guard was put duty at the prison and was conducting a prisoner to his cell. They came to a corner of the corridor which, owing to alterations being made, was rather dark, a screen being over the narrow window. "Don't go," warned the warder. "There's a step here." "Cut your candle, mate!" replied the prisoner. "I knew that step before you were born."

Foolish Question
In a neighborhood where "war gardens" were very popular there are still many of them, because they still save the family many dollars. Harry, who was 8 years old, was hard at work hoeing the young onions, when the woman next door asked: "Harry, is your mother home?" "No, she's stopped and standing on the hoe," replied "Mr. S." "You don't think I would be working like this if my mother wasn't home?"

Verbal Coincidences
When Grover Cleveland was president, remarks Dr. Barton, he was invited to give the address at the wedding in Brooklyn. His friend and biographer, George F. Parker, knowing that Cleveland did not prepare addresses, sent to the president an editorial of his own, containing among other things, this sentence: "About this time, look out for speeches about the pilgrims and the Puritans." Mr. Cleveland wrote back that he had begun the preparation of his address, and he quoted a sentence from it as follows: "We used to see in almanacs, opposite certain days of the year upon which we were entering, the prophetic words: 'Look out for actual stealing of ideas.' It would hardly be amiss to find now in our almanacs opposite the latter part of December, about these days, look out for the pilgrims." The thought was identical. The words were so nearly the same, it would have seemed quite impossible that the two men should have used the same independently. But Parker certainly did not steal them from Cleveland; and what ever Grover Cleveland was or was not, he was not a plagiarist.

Back from the War
You, who have fought in France, And lived through the years of war; You, who were young and glad, And who have known the horror of an awful sight, Or the dread response of the waiting night.

That came to torture a tired mind— What part of your soul have you left behind?

You, who have fought in France; I see in your weary eyes The thoughts that I cannot define, And are still clinging to me, as if I were dead. But something calls to you "Over There!"

Something has left you merely—kind, What part of your heart have you left behind?

—Nan Terrell Reed, in N. Y. Times.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Acton celebrated the 120th anniversary of the Concord light on April 13, 1895, by issuing a souvenir program that was a beauty in its day. It happened to get one of them from an Acton friend. Some of the advertising pages proved interesting indeed, especially when prices were quoted. On page 3, for instance, there was an advertisement of page size announcing goods on sale by the Lowell Clothing company on Merrimack street. The leader in the advertisement was as follows:

"We call special attention to our line of 'black clay-diagonal worsted suits' that we are selling for $10 a suit. The usual price elsewhere for these suits is from $12 to $15, but our price is $10 a suit. We have a full outfit of dress and business suits ranging from $10 up, that is equal in every respect to the best custom tailor work. Serviceable children's suits from $1.25 to $1.50. Little Giant suits, warranted not to rip, $5 per suit."

Other prices in this souvenir program are also worth noting. Bicycles sold for $103. Two Lowell sarsaparilla were heavily advertised in those days in every country town whenever fairs or concerts were held that called for programs or catalogues. Hack, livery and boarding stables were then at the height of their popularity and carriages were busy men as indicated by the program.

A communication has recently been published in a local paper which appears to insinuate that the recent election of a janitor at the Morey Junior high school was influenced by a consideration of political expediency on the part of certain members of the committee. The answer given to this communication does not seem to tell the whole story and a member of the school board explained the matter to the writer. The civil service authorities certified the names of three women as qualified to fill this position and after Principal Bennett had interviewed these women and looked into their qualifications, he recommended Mrs. Mary E. Duran for the position. When the matter was brought before the school committee at its meeting on Oct. 25, Supervisor of Janitors William Thornton stated all this and as a result Mrs. Duran was elected. Misses Bergeron and Ward were also interviewed and it was inadvisable to create the position at present owing to the additional money required for salary, and were recorded as not voting on the ballot which elected Mrs. Duran, but Mr. Bergeron stated that this woman would be his choice if he had the right to say or advisable to create the position and it was understood that Mr. Warner also would have favored her selection under other circumstances. She is married and understands the management of children. It is said.

SAMUEL MCCLURE
AT WOMEN'S CLUB

Samuel S. McClure, traveler, author and publicist, and founder of McClure's magazine, was the speaker at the weekly meeting of the Middlesex Women's club yesterday afternoon.

The vital problems of America at the present time were the topics of his address, particularly the Japanese problem. He stressed the point that both America and Japan were right from their own points of view, but that America had the right of two things—either submit to the Japanese viewpoint or defend itself. He advocated the latter.

In opening, Mr. McClure stated that one of the first things he had noticed in Lowell were posters announcing a lecture on "What's Wrong With the World." He said that this surprised him very much, as he thought there was nothing wrong with the world. He cited the case of Polish farm laborers who in seven years were able to purchase their own farms, and of gatherings of foreign elements where, in not a single grumble was heard relative to existing conditions. He asserted that it was much the same all over the country. There never before was such a chance to get along if one is willing to work.

Proceeding to his real address, Mr. McClure traced the progress of the white race in world domination. This dominance has caused much hatred on the part of other races, who resent the white man's asserted superiority. The English-speaking white man rules more territory than the others of the race, and this rule must be maintained, as the whole world would be plunged into chaos if it were overthrown.

After recounting the expansion of this country from the beginning of its history to the present day, the speaker passed on to a review of the conditions in Japan. He said no farmers are as poor as the Japanese farmers on account of their country's congested population and limited resources, whereas they are a people of great culture, there being in spite of their poverty an literacy rate of but 1-3 per cent. in comparison to from 5 to 10 per cent. in this country.

They feel that the white race is not entitled to the best of everything since God made everything for all people. The increase in population in Japan is so great that there must be expansion in some direction, and they are looking to Australia, Canada and the United States as countries of unlimited resources and sparse population in comparison with their own.

Since territory is the only possession which has durability, since all other things are transitory, a nation must keep its territory to maintain its existence. This is the American angle. The question of the intermingling of races was also touched upon.

Both sides are in the right, but Australia, America and other lands of the white race must be retained for that race, and the speaker militantly advocated this doctrine.

After the lecture a number of the club members tendered Mr. McClure an informal reception, congratulating him on his address.

They're tinkering now with the tariff, And when all the tinkers get through, I know just the way I will fare, If they do what I think they will do; They'll subsidize all who demand it, They'll boost every duty they can. And me? Oh, I'll grumble—and stand it. For I am an "Average Man."

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

Paris Has Rooster That Smokes Cigarets

PARIS, Ky., Nov. 8.—Paris has been able from time to time, to boast of freaks of the animal kingdom, including five-legged calves and three-legged chickens, but for the first time it has as its guest a rooster that smokes cigarettes. Mr. and Mrs. Earl B. Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Orion Schele of Columbus, Ohio, who stopped in Paris today on their way to Florida, had with them two white Wyandotte roosters, "Warren G. Harding" and "Jimmie Cox," both of which have been trained to do a few tricks. Warren G. numbers among his accomplishments the ability to smoke a cigaret.

Leaders of Shoeworkers' Unions Confer

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—Representatives of New England shoeworkers' unions met in conference here today to consider the situation in the industry with respect to wages as developed by the proposal of the Lynn Shoe Manufacturers' association for a reduction of 20 per cent. It was said that union officials regarded the move in Lynn as merely the forerunner of a movement to similar purpose in other shoe manufacturing centers. Those who took part in the conference included officers of the United Shoe Workers of America, the Shoe Workers' Protective union and the Allied Shoe Workers. In resolutions made public at Lynn recently, they claimed to represent 50,000 operatives. At that time the resolutions called upon shoe workers to oppose the reduction.

have a majority of one in the state senate. A bitter fight has been waged for the control of the state legislative body, with the vote hanging on the result of four doubtful districts. Louisville elects a complete city ticket with five parties offering candidates for nearly all offices. These include the recently organized negro party, the Lincoln Independents.

Maryland elects a new comptroller, an entire house of delegates and 13 of the 27 members of the senate. New Jersey elects a new assembly and six state senators. The campaign there was based on a "wet and dry" issue, the republicans favoring a strict enforcement of the Van Ness state prohibition act, while the democrats generally favored its modification or repeal. The democrats cannot possibly get control of the state senate as 11 of the 15 holdover senators are republicans—a majority of the lower house of 21. They expected, however, to get a majority in the lower house and to elect enough candidates to the senate to give them a majority on joint ballots which would enable them to elect a democrat as state treasurer. The republicans are equally confident that their ticket will be successful. New York chooses a new assembly

two state senators and an associate judge of the court of appeals, in addition to voting on seven constitutional amendments. One of the most bitterly contested was that which gives world war veterans preference in civil service appointments. Mayoral elections also were held in more than 40 cities of the state.

In Pennsylvania the state at large is to choose a justice of the supreme court while several cities, including Pittsburgh, Scranton and Lancaster will elect mayors, issues generally are of a local character.

The principal mayoralty elections were in New York city, Detroit, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Toledo, Albany, Buffalo, Troy, Schenectady, Rochester and Syracuse. In New York city Mayor John F. Hylan, democrat, was opposed by Henry F. Curran, republican, running on a coalition ticket. Mayor James Couzens of Detroit, seeking re-election, was opposed by Daniel W. Smith. Cleveland had seven candidates for mayor and Cincinnati four. In Albany which has been under a republican administration for 20 years, the democrats have waged a stiff campaign and predicted victory for their mayoralty candidate, William S. Huckabee, a banker, against his republican opponent, William Van Rensselaer Erving, formerly commission of public safety.

New York Election

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Men and women voters of New York city, 1,232,940 of whom are entitled to cast their ballots, went to the polls today to elect a new city administration, one state senator, 52 assemblymen, and several judges and county officers. The polls opened at 6 a. m. and will close at 6 p. m.

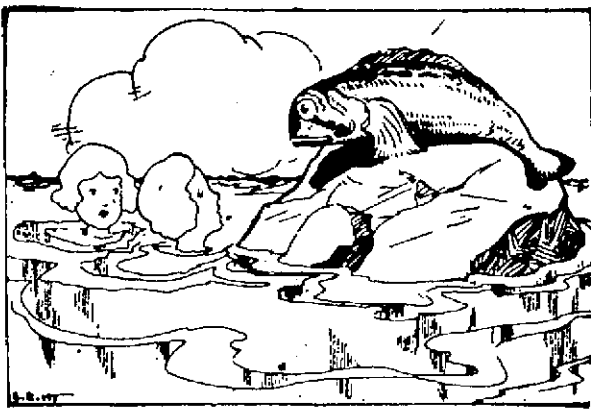

While there were seven candidates for mayor, the choice lay between John F. Hylan, democrat incumbent, and Henry F. Curran, republican, running on a coalition ticket. Democratic headquarters predicted Hylan's re-election by more than 160,000, while Chief interest so far as women were concerned, centered in the contest for register of New York county in which all the principal candidates were women. They were Helen Varick Boswell, republican; Annie Mathews, democrat; Olga Long, socialist and Grace Scribner, farmer-labor.

Early balloting was unusually brisk, with women reported in the majority at many polling places. Hundreds of housewives lined up at the booths with milk pails on their heads, making one trip serve both for the performance of their civic duty and the acquisition of baby's milk-bound breakfast.

Several women's organizations sent workers out to care for babies while mothers voted. Others opened nurseries where babies could be checked. Mayor Hylan, accompanied by Mrs. Hylan, went to the polls in Brooklyn at 9 o'clock.

Adventures of The Twins

ODD MR. BLENNY

As Nancy and Nick passed Mr. Blenny's house on their way to look for Mrs. Rock-Fish and all the others, a voice called to them. Not a voice in the water where all the Wiggles people lived, but a voice outside of the water. So the Twins poked their heads up into the air to see who it was. To their astonishment there lay Mr. Blenny himself right on top of the rock and staring thoughtfully out to sea.

"Oh, my!" said Nancy in dismay. "Haven't you better come into the water at once, Mr. Blenny? You'll suffocate out there in the air!"

Mr. Blenny turned his round bullet head and thoughtful eyes toward them languidly, and looked at both of them at once. He had queer eyes, Mr. Blenny had. He could move them any which way at all, and could conveniently look at the sunset and watch the moon come up on the other side of the world at the same time.

"No more than you will in the water," he answered slowly. "You're not Wiggles, are you? And with that he again bent his tired gaze out to sea.

"No, but we have Maple Green Shout," answered Nick, "that takes us anywhere."

"And I have a magic jigumacraek in my body which lets me go out into fresh air for an hour or two at a time, and a pair of magic fins I can climb with," answered the blenny. "I like to come here and hunt for barnacles. I eat them by the way, you're not birds, are you?"

"No. Why?"

"Birds like blennies. They eat us and I have to be careful." There! I guess I'll have to go in now and look after the children. Did you see Bird-Ket?"

"Bird-Ket?"

"Yes, my wife. She's gadding."

"We'll hunt her," promised the Twins as they disappeared.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Val and Ernie Stanton, "The English boys from America," are the headliners at B. F. Keith's theatre, this week. In the character of an instructor and pupil at Eton college, in England, they "manhandle" the English language in a manner that brings the audience keen delight. Their dialogue is composed mainly of words not frequently used, which they mispronounce and thus make an extraordinary degree of their comic songs and eccentric dancing are well received.

Gold and Edwards, self-styled "The dancing Frenchmen," present a dancing act of the highest grade. All styles of dancing are attempted, including dances on roller skates. They were accompanied by a quartet of vocalists, who were several other acts on the bill.

Shapiro and Lorton, two girls and a piano, are a pleasing musical act. They sing good songs, and use the latest songs and the piano accompaniment by one of the pair is excellent.

"On the Lawn," a comedy skit featuring William Law and Elsa Most, provides light comedy of a high order. In their characters of two would-be musicians, one of whom plays only a tin can and the other a "Humoresque," they do a variety of stunts which are highly entertaining. Their dancing is one of their best features.

The Music Makers, all in Scottish kilts, have a diversified act of instrumental music, song and dance which pleased the crowd immensely. Mr. McFarlane is a piper, and is equally skilled along other musical lines, and the four girls in the act are just as accomplished in their various specialties. The act is one of the best seen here.

Ernie and Gerie Pails are a pair of knockabout comedians and acrobats who perform a number of difficult feats in an amusing and humorous manner. An unusual amount of hard knocks in the course of the act and his partner performs well both in connection with the tumbling and in rope work.

The Pathé News Weekly, presenting the news of the world in motion, shows interesting scenes at Havre, when the body of the late President was taken to France for interment. Aesop's Fables and Topics of the Day complete the program.

THE STRAND THEATRE

There are two good films at the Strand theatre for the first three days of the week. "Life's Barnum" deals with Zee, a young artist with the brush. The pair, who are in rather straitened circumstances, form a partnership and open an up-to-date dress-making establishment in the studio of

'WARE WASTE AND WEAR WELL!

Human Bodies Are Poisoned by Their Own Waste. Most Illnesses Are Preventable.

The human body has to be heated and fine foods burned inside the body produce much waste. All this waste should be removed from the body regularly, thoroughly, daily, by the eliminative organs, which are the bowels, kidneys, skin, and to some extent, the lungs. These should act in harmony—if the bowels are inactive, extra effort is required of the others, which easily become deranged. Many medicines will force bowel action temporarily but the after-effects are harmful. Many remedies are advertised, some of which have proved harmful after year to be reliable, efficient, and without harmful action or effect. Take Beecham's Pills for example. For over 70 years Beecham's has been a household word all over the world. 70 years of use by all sorts of folks, men, women and even children, have proven first, that Beecham's Pills do what is claimed for them; second, that they are harmless, do not produce bad effects. Some medicine forces Nature to unnatural action. Other medicines, like those contained in Beecham's Pills assist Nature, act mildly, persuade and hence produce no harmful effects. It is common to find families in which Beecham's Pills have been used by several generations, their use handed down from father to son and from mother to daughter.

That's the best possible recommendation for any remedy. Every druggist sells Beecham's, is glad to do so because he knows that their reputation has been won by merit.

a friend, who is spending the winter in the south. Business is very good with them, but the receipts of the theatre are not large enough to meet the indebtedness of the establishment with the result that a calamity is about to occur, when a visitor in the person of a Russian count steps in and helps the pair financially.

In "The Sharkman," Frank Mayo figures in two love romances that are very enjoyable. First, he comes to town with the daughter of a wealthy financier and later in one of the South Sea Islands with an untamed maiden. The story is a blaze with incident, romance and deals mostly with a white child who has been reared among the natives on a South Sea island. It disclosed her contract of marriage with a native chief and their great love for her. Her romantic wedding to the hero of the play, who after being shipwrecked was cast on the island, is an unusual feature.

The comedy is very enjoyable, while the current events, which show numerous happenings of the recent past, are of the world, and which feature the recent Harvard-Princeton football game, are excellent. The organ selections are also very pleasing.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

An old familiar story told in a new way with many departures from the usual cut-and-dried methods of depicting the action, plus action from start to finish and with a real plot of stirring interest, is "The Love Bandit," a romantic drama of society and the Canadian story presented by the Lowell Opera House for the first time at the Opera House last evening.

An audience that filled this popular pleasure followed the story written by Charles E. Blaney and Norman Houston with marked attention, and more than once the principals in the cast were applauded for their splendid character work. The production, under the stage direction of John Rayold, with James L. Wood as assistant director and Charles Blaney as stage manager, is one that merits crowded houses all the week.

The story revealed by these capable players is one that holds attention from the opening scene. It is a story of the old struggle between red blood and blue. Jim Blazes, son of a northern lumberman, high and mighty in the frozen climes, was a New Yorker in name only. Unusual to the ways of so-called society, with his eccentric habits and advanced ideas, he had been in the office of Blazes, was Amy's brother Fred, a never-does-it-chap, familiar with wild ways and learning the game with other wild youth. The Van Blazes, having lost their immense fortune, were compelled to seek employment to maintain their social status as a family. The girl became Blazes' office assistant.

The brother, broken by heavy gambling losses, was finally induced by a "pal" to "go over" to the other side. One package of money disappeared, and Jim Blazes is about to notify the police and have Fred arrested. The girl, however, in a prophetic marriage to the girl, believing that he social status will aid him in getting into society and becoming a member of the "in-crowd," she simply to save her brother.

Trouble brews in the north, and Jim's life with the money is a happy one, so he starts for the woods to have charge of the big log float coming down in the spring. The story continues with the action of the float, and the audience and affords the players many chances to show their ability in trying scenes. The battle in the woods, the valley struggle between the two warring northern enemies, and the arrival of the wife from her city home to stand by the side of her husband, whom she had learned to love, are all scenes of remarkable fidelity and splendid detail.

Shirley Magrath, as Amy Van Clayton, scores splendidly in an important role. Her acting is of the highest order, and later as the devoted wife of her red-blooded husband, Jim Blazes, she is equally successful. Her playing of the "Player," displayed unusual talents. His playing of two violin solos in the northern camp as he stood alone in the moonlight, was a masterpiece of music. He is a violinist of great ability.

Richard Castilla as Henri Barbeau, Jim's friend and rival in the woods, gave a splendid portrayal of a French-Canadian workman and lover. His scenes with Magrath, depicting the servant girl, were taken in excellent fashion by Ollie Minell, were a delight, and fun was rampant whenever these two appeared. As a singer, she has a fine voice, "brogue," and her acting leaves nothing to be desired. Miss Minell was very capable and her diction, too, of the right quality, to produce laughter at just the right moment.

Clarence Chase, the Snapper Rollins as "The Love Bandit," was a fine cast. Miss Marion Cooper gave a splendid role as an ingenue, her Flossie Mulcahey proving a genuine portrayal throughout. John Strong, appearing as Fred Van Blazes, brother of the hero, admirably proved his value as a stock player.

One of the best character parts was that of Mabel Griffith, who as French Annie, surprised so many friends by her new offering. Her work last night was worth going far to see.

James L. Wood appeared as Sheriff Javison, and John Haver, who dramatically pleasing and full of action, was the Buck Ramdell of the north with gangster's leanings.

In "A Midnight Bell," Ray is seen as a little salesman in a small country town where the life and attractions of city life are rarely ever experienced. He breezes into the town as a whole-sale salesman in rubber heels and his attempts to dispose of his wares to the crafty storekeepers are screen gems, later, obtaining a position in one of the leading stores, he sets out to show the proprietor how to make sales, using a judicious mixture of flattery, salesmanship and guile to put over the finishing touches. These are scenes which keep the audience in roars of laughter from the start of the picture to the finish.

Despite the fact that the picture is brim full of the inimitable Ray comedy feature of the picture, the picture is a pretty daughter of the leading banker of the town, and the attempts of a quintet of crooks to break into her father's bank. Their presence in town causes a considerable flurry and it is only after our hero breaks up their work and accomplishes their conviction in court that he is finally able to realize his ambitions towards the pretty girl.

give me the good old fashioned remedies made from roots and herbs in preference to the new fangled patent medicines on the market. SURE WAY TO GET RID OF BLACKHEADS

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads and that is to dissolve them. To do this get two ounces of calomine powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have begun to melt. The blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, are simply dissolved and disappear leaving the parts without any mark whatever. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions from the skin that form in the pores of the skin—plugging and squeezing only cause irritation, make large pores, and do not get them out after they become hard. The calomine powder dissolves the water simply dissolving the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition. Anybody troubled with these unsightly little blemishes should certainly try this simple method.—Adv.

BOXING

Already a number of local and Lawrence fans have sent in requests for reservations for Thursday night's boxing match at the Moody club and present indications point to a large crowd turning out for the double bout-up program.

Interest is high in the bout between Mike Castle and Barney Burke, for the featherweight championship of Lawrence. Castle is known as one of the cleverest boxers in the weight in these parts, while Burke is noted for his hitting ability.

Neither Burke nor Castle has appeared in Lowell this season, but a year ago the former was quite active in this city. He boxed Kid Thomas several brilliant bouts here and always gave general satisfaction.

Castle, too, has performed here, and also worked in several of Johnnie Travers's open air shows in Lawrence, which were attended by many local followers of the glove game.

In bringing Mickey Travers of Boston and Young Jack Sharkey of New Bedford together in the second ten-round event the promoter believes he has secured one of the best numbers of the season. Both are fighters, who like nothing better than standing in there toe to toe and swapping punches.

Travers and Sharkey have fine records, including bouts with many of the

ANOTHER FOR LOWELL

Local Poloists Win Fifth Straight, With New Bedford Latest Victim

Playing whirlwind polo all the way, Lowell won its fifth straight victory at the Crescent rink last night when the Spindle City quartet triumphed over the New Bedford champions by the score of 4 to 2.

It was without doubt one of the best games ever played here and it was replete with thrills, excitement and superb play. A near riot came in the third period when Davies hit one that he and the other Lowell players maintained went into the cage and broke through the side. The New Bedford players held that the ball did not enter the cage, but struck on the outside. Referee McLaughlin stepped into the Lowell contention, but as he moved toward the cage to fix the netting, Paul Gardner made some remark not to his liking, and fists began to fly. The other players rushed to the scene, and the brawling continued until the netting, but the combatants were finally separated and order restored.

The referee, yielding to the requests of the Wholers, tried to get the ball through the side of the cage. It couldn't be done. The Lowell men claimed that it required more force than the power of the officials' hands, but he was satisfied with his decision and changed his first decision and ruled it "no goal."

The game proceeded with greater vigor, but one goal, the product of Alexander's hit, and another before the final score of the hour, represented all the scoring in the final session.

Lowell's work through the game was a treat to look upon. Alexander's hitting was superb, kept out of many scrammages, but he was ever present at the mouth of the cage, and he scored three of Lowell's four goals. The other was registered by Morrison, and it was the feature shot of the night. Davies turned in some classy floor work, Quigley was on the alert at every turn, Morrison played his best game of the night, and Blount at goal was never better.

The game opened rather unsatisfactorily from a Lowell standpoint. Wiley and Gardner scored for New Bedford, and Lowell landed but one, with Alexander hooking one in on a pass from Davies. In the second session play went along some time before Morrison scored near late, drove the ball the entire length of the hall for a goal. Davies ducked to let the ball pass over him. This tie the score and the crowd went wild with howls and in front and again the hall rocked with enthusiasm.

The period ended with the count 3 to 2 in Lowell's favor. The third was a hammer with a clash of players and Alexander's third goal of the night and the final register of the game bringing to an end a game that will long be remembered by all present.

JOHNNY BUFF AND HIS FAVORITE HANGOUT, ENGINE HOUSE NO. 2, AT JERSEY CITY.

HERB AND RUSSELL STEIN, BROTHERS, WHO WILL OPPOSE EACH OTHER FOR THE THIRD TIME ON THE GRIDIRON

By N.E.A. Service
PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 8.—Just as in 1919 and 1920, and in the month last year, the parents of Herb Stein and Russell Stein are hoping and praying for a tie game on Nov. 13, when Washington and Jefferson clash at the University of Pittsburgh.

Two Stein lads do not take sides but hope for a tie game so that there will be peace in the family.

Each fall when the brothers trot out on the field the parents of the two Stein lads do not take sides but hope for a tie game so that there will be peace in the family.

So far as is known this is the first time in history where two brothers have played on opposing teams for three years in succession.

A peculiar thing about both the Steins is that each kicks the goals after touchdown for his team and each is a finished goal from the line of scrimmage, both having many goals in this manner to their credit. In order to place kick, Herb Stein has to be pulled from his place at center and the ball passed back to him by another lineman.

Why Stagg and Wilce Are Great

By ROY GROVE
Year in and year out Ohio State and Chicago have been the most consistent contenders for the title of the teams of the Big Ten conference. And this, despite the fact that coaches at the two schools are opposites. Wilce at Ohio State is a coach of the modern school. Stagg at Chicago is a mentor of the old football school, who has been on the coaching lines for years, but who, unlike many of the older coaches at the big schools, has kept pace with the changes in the gridiron game.

Both Wilce and Stagg owe their success in the main to one thing—they work constantly for the future. Too many of the present-day mentors are satisfied, after building up a top-notch team, to ride along on the glory of the showing of that flashy team brings them. And then, in a year or two, the stars leave school and the team goes into a slump for the next couple of seasons.

When Second String? Not so Wilce and Stagg. No matter how great an aggregation of pigskin pushers they may turn out, you'll always find this pair playing just as much if not more attention to the second string men. For it is from the ranks of these that the future greats will arise.

Stagg for years has centered his attention on developing great quarterbacks. His belief is a star field marshall can get a No. 1 result from even a mediocre team. That belief was shared by Napoleon, you remember, for the great French leader made the crack that the size of the army didn't make so much difference as long as the leader was always with it.

Walter Eckersall, Steffen and Romney, the quarters of Chicago's present team, are only a few of the field marshals that Stagg has developed to lead his team. And the result of his work is shown by the fact that both Eckersall and Steffen made the All-American with ease. It was Romney who scored all the points in the 9 to 0 defeat of Princeton by Chicago. He carried the ball over for a touchdown and kicked a field goal.

Around the Big Ten Conference a sign of relief went up when Pete Stinchcomb, left Ohio State. Other teams breathed easier with the star halfback out of the way. For State up to that time had shown nothing that appeared classy enough to take the All-American star's place.

But they might have saved their breath. For Wilce, with his customary caution, had an ace up his sleeve.

In addition $10,000,000 in state bonds have been sold and a like amount offered for sale. These figures, it was explained in a statement, were compiled in connection with studies made of the possibility of hastening public works as a measure of relieving the unemployment situation. "Public works which it is hoped will be erected or extended by these municipal bonds" said the statement, "include highways, schools, sewers, filtration plants, waterworks, hospitals, parks, forest preserves, bridge, light, paving, courthouse, fire department and police department equipment, streets and sidewalk, beach improvements, and memorial playgrounds. "The totals of municipal and township bonds recently sold or offered for sale include: New Hampshire sold $345,000; offered $230,000; Rhode Island, $200,000—$290,000; Massachusetts $2,581,500—$1,035,000.

"SCRAPPY" SHURTLEFF, BROWN'S CENTRE

By N.E.A. Service
PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 8.—Never wearing a head gear and with the sleeves of his jersey always rolled up nearly to his elbows, Fred Shurtleff, Brown's scrappy centre and one of the leading centre men of the east, always presents a spectacle on the gridiron. For four years Shurtleff has not missed a minute from a game through injuries, and Coach E. N. Robinson says that he well deserves the name of "Scrappy." Always in the thick of the fray and usually at the bottom of the heap when there is one, Shurtleff can be found. As a snapper back, he has not made a bad pass in two seasons, and when it comes to defensive playing, Coach Robinson has him backing up the one just as Glenn Warner has the mighty Herb Stein backing up the Panther line. And Shurtleff does his work in grand style, for he is not afraid to hurt himself into a mass of dying human beings and he is not afraid to leave his feet in order to make a tackle. Fully 50 per cent of the tackles made by Brown this year may be credited to Shurtleff. "Head gears are no good; you have to spend too much time pulling them this way or that way and I've never found any use for them," said Shurtleff, when asked why he did not wear one. This is Shurtleff's last season, and everyone is pulling for him to go through this season without an injury. He would rather play football than eat. He is the first man out for practice each afternoon and one of the last to leave. "Oh, for a team of Shurtleffs!" said Coach Robinson recently. "There is a fighter who never knows when he is licked."

WILL SERVE WARRANTS ASSASSINATION OF HARA

Federal Officers to Get After

Local Delinquent Federal Taxpayers

Delinquent federal tax payers, beware! The United States government is after you.

Revenue officers J. R. Harrington and R. D. Donohue announced today they had received warrants to serve on delinquent federal tax payers. This money, due the government, must be paid and the government is going to see that it is, or obtain a good reason for non-payment.

The government feels it has been patient and has given its debtors every chance possible to meet the payments and intends to act without further delay. Investigation shows that taxes as far back as 1918 have not been paid in some cases. There are a great many others who have not paid more recent taxes.

The government does not like to prosecute, does not want to prosecute; what the government wants is the money.

Officers Harrington and Donohue have office hours in the federal building every Monday from 9:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. and are ready to receive payments or to aid in any way possible by furnishing information on federal tax questions.

On the income tax many have neglected to pay other than the first payment in the case of the quarterly payment plan. A number have paid the first two installments, and have neglected to pay the third. The last will be due December 15. The office will be kept open all day in all probability, in addition to the regular Monday office hours.

After that preparations will be commenced to get ready for the filing of another year's report. Just what the rate will be and the amount taxable has not been definitely settled upon at the present. The local officers have not yet been informed as to the changes. About the middle of February the office will be kept open daily until the time elapses for the filing of the 1921 return.

At the present time the officers keep busy investigating reports made in 1920 and performing other duties connected with their office. They have charge of all revenue matters with the exception of those pertaining to prohibition which are handled by a separate force.

BRITISH PRAY FOR THE SUCCESS OF CONFERENCE

LONDON, Nov. 7.—(By the Associated Press)—The religious world of Great Britain as reflected by pulpit references is deeply impressed with the Washington conference.

In conformity with the appeal of the archbishop of Canterbury, prayers were offered yesterday in all the Anglican churches for the conference. In all the Jewish synagogues special prayers will be offered next Saturday for the success of the conference. Even Imam Mustapha Kalin, religious head of the Moslem community in England, whose mosque is at Woking in Surrey, will pray to the Almighty next Friday to guide the counsellors of the nations represented at Washington.

Station Master at Toki Arrested and Held for Complicity in Crime

TOKIO, Nov. 7.—By the Associated Press—Higora Masamoto, assistant station master at the Osaka railway station, where Premier Takashi Hara was assassinated Friday night, has been arrested, charged with complicity in the crime. About 20 other employees at the station were released after being questioned.

Reiji Nakaka, the assassin, insists, the police say, that he had not accomplished the crime before, however, that the stationmaster's death was brought about through a conspiracy. This belief is strengthened by the fact that a well-dressed unidentified man was seen hurrying from the station at the moment Nakaka thrust his sword into the premier's breast.

ASSASSINATION WON'T CHANGE JAPAN'S POLICY

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—Japan's policy at the Washington arms conference will be unchanged by the assassination of Premier Hara, today declared Kotaro Mochizuki, member of the house of representatives, who came to this country as a representative of the Kensei Kai or opposition party.

"I feel with indignation and sorrow the account of Hara's assassination," asserted Mochizuki. "Though I am a representative of the opposition party, I can safely say that whoever may be Hara's successor, Japan's policy in the Washington conference will be unchanged, because the whole Japanese nation desires co-operation with America for disarmament."

URGE ADDITIONAL FEDERAL JUDGES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Attorney General Daugherty, who with Chief Justice Taft appeared before the senate judiciary committee today in connection with legislation providing for additional federal judges, told the committee there was evidence that the recent "crime wave" was gradually diminishing.

Makes a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made cough syrups, and costs about $2. Fully and quickly prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle, and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better. Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs. To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The squad will remain in this city until Saturday. Today the office will be open between 1 and 5 in the afternoon and 7 and 9 in the evening. The clean-up squad is composed of a claims examiner, a vocational training expert, a compensation officer, and a medical examiner, besides representatives of the Red Cross and the American Legion. Mr. Abraham Kane, in charge of the squad, urges those who wish to appear before the squad to do so early in the day and not to wait until the last minute as in the usual case the states the veterans' bureau is making every effort to bring about satisfactory adjustment between the government and the claim-holder and the visit of the clean-up squad here is the result of a recent conference between Col. Chas. H. Forbes, chief of the veterans' bureau at Washington and Dr. Arthur Bridges, in charge of the New England district.

Besides Lowell the squad will assist veterans from Billerica, Braintree, Dunstable, Tyngsboro, Westford, Littleton, Chelmsford, Carleton, Tewksbury, Bedford, Burlington and Wilmington.

MILK BELOW STANDARD

Milk Inspector Says Cans or Large Containers Should Not Be Used

That so much milk in this city is found to be below standard is due to the method generally used here of serving it from cans or large containers instead of in bottles prepared for use by the wholesale dealers. Milk Inspector Melvin P. Master told Judge Fisher in district court this morning while prosecuting an alleged violation of the milk laws. The defendant, Leopold Jamin, of Thorndike street, said to be a lunch cart proprietor, pleaded not guilty, stating that he disposed of the milk as he received it from the dealer. He said he purchased it in large cans and sold it by the glass, drawing it out of a large container. The court imposed a $10 fine.

Mr. Master told the court that in many cases the alleged offender is not aware of having milk below standard in his possession but owing to a poor system of serving it when a sample is taken, it is always found wanting in conformity to the standard set down by law. This is due, he said, to the system of buying milk by cans. The top milk of the can is usually rich but the other is poor, the can never being shaken by the clerk, he stated. If the milk is poured into a container of large size as is usually done in small lunch carts or carts the rich part of the liquid remains at the bottom while the milk at the top remains very weak. Inspector Master stated the best way of selling milk is by the bottle method used in the larger restaurants, whereby the clerk or waitress merely serve the milk as it comes to them well prepared in a tightly sealed bottle.

Joseph Ferreira, charged with making an illegal sale of liquor, was given a continuance to November 12. Two drunkenness cases completed a brief session. Both defendants were given a month's suspended sentence to the house of correction. Probation Officer Cronin to keep a watch on their behavior for the next six months.

LOWELL MEN ARRAIGNED IN CAMBRIDGE

Frank Urbanek, John Bardzik and Thomas Wolanin, all of Lowell, were arraigned before Judge Brown in the superior court at Cambridge today, on a charge of illegally removing concealed property. Owing to new recent developments the trial was put over to a later date. The defendants are charged with having removed, early last summer, three truck loads of dry goods from the store formerly owned by one Emil Budas on Lake street. The latter claims to have sold the store to Urbanek and Bardzik, taking a mortgage of $7000 on the store contents as part payment. Shortly after the goods were hauled away, the Lowell police traced two of the truck loads to Lawrence and arrested the three defendants. The third load was located in a house on Old road, Lowell, Sunday evening, by Chief Cullinane and officers of the Draught police who received a "tip" that the dry goods were concealed in partitions of that house. James R. Ellis, George and James T. worth of property said to have been taken from the Lakeview store being found inside an all completely lathed and plastered over. As yet no additional charges in reference to this loot have been brought against the three defendants, the local police and Chief Cullinane not yet having completed an investigation.

James R. Ellis pleaded guilty to operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor, disposition to be made Saturday.

LARCENY OF CLOTHING

Bernard Kane Appeals From Sentence to the Massachusetts Reformatory

Bernard Kane, 21 years old, who gave his residence as Brooks Street, was committed to the Massachusetts reformatory at Concord by Judge Fisher in the district court this morning charged with the larceny of clothing valued at $57.75, the property of Henry Bigonnesse. Kane appealed and was held under bonds of $200. The police charge the defendant with entering a rooming house at 359 Middlesex street at about 7 o'clock yesterday morning and stealing the clothing from a room occupied by Bigonnesse. The latter told of going to work early in the morning and locking the door of his room. He was told of the theft when he returned at noon, he said. Anthony Hendas, who conducts the lodging house, testified to having caught the accused fleeing along the corridor after he had jumped through the transom of the door to Bigonnesse's room. He was carrying the clothes wrapped in a newspaper, under his arm, he said, while he had dropped the shoes and stockings out of a rear window into the back yard. He told of calling Officer Craig who placed Kane under arrest. The defendant denied the theft, though he admitted going to the house with another man for the purpose of "making some money." On the stand he said he would plead guilty to a charge of intent to commit larceny, but was absolutely innocent of committing the theft alleged. Kane denied the story related by Hendas that he had caught the defendant "with the goods."

Distribution of Thanksgiving Baskets to Shut-ins—Flags for Schools

Members of Gen. B. F. Butler, W.R.C., No. 75, have started an extensive campaign for new members, under the leadership of the new president, Mrs. Alice A. Felch. Thirty-three new names have been placed upon the rolls since the new officers were chosen, and Mrs. Felch hopes to increase the membership to more than 100 before the first of the new year.

Plans have been completed for the joint meeting of Corps 75 and Gen. B. F. Butler Post No. 42, U.A.R., to be held the first Wednesday evening of December in Memorial hall quarters. At this meeting officers for corps and post will be elected and arrangements made for the joint installation in January. About 10 new members of the corps are to be initiated.

Corps 75 members are planning to distribute many Thanksgiving baskets of fruit and small delicacies to shut-ins and worthy poor. The generous gifts, from the relief corps each year are always eagerly awaited by the veterans and their families. Where possible, gifts of money will be made to the deserving, but the corps confines most of its activities to offering food and baskets of fruit.

Wednesday evening will be an important night in Corps 75 circles. Supper will be served in Memorial hall, and afterward there will be held solemn memorial service for the honored dead of all wars in which American men and women have entered. The program will be in charge of the chaplain, Mrs. Elizabeth Williams. Suppers are served the first Wednesday evening of each month in the dining hall.

Several large flags are being made ready by the corps for presentation to various schools. One is going to St. Peter's orphanage and another to a Pawtucketville school. These flags are 32x48 inches in size and of silk weave. Five flags have already been given by the corps to local schools since the first of the year.

Mrs. Agnes H. Parker of Boston, recently elected national president of the Woman's Relief corps at the national encampment in Indianapolis, is the first leader the Day State has had for several years. The Lowell corps members are to extend her an invitation to visit this city some time during the winter. Mrs. Parker is called "the busiest president we have ever had." She has already named Mrs. Alice A. Felch of Lowell on an important committee.

The new national headquarters of the W.R.C. will be opened soon at 657 Washington street, adjoining the Massachusetts department headquarters.

The Most Marvelous Girl in The World Is Blind and Deaf

HEARING BY FEELING, SEEING BY SMELLING—WILLETTA HUGGINS, LISTENING TO THE TELEPHONE WITH HER FINGER TIPS AND DECIDING THE COLOR OF A GARMENT BY ITS ODOR.

JANESVILLE, Wis., Nov. 5.—The most marvelous girl in the world is just beginning to do marvels for other girls and for boys, too.

She is Willetta Huggins, whose eyes are blind and whose ears are deaf, but who sees by smelling and hears by feeling.

Willetta is 16 and an inmate of the Wisconsin School for the Blind here. Before Willetta became totally blind and deaf she was far from a marvel; frankly, her teachers thought her stupid and indolent.

Often they lost patience with her. They "just couldn't get things through her head." At 10 years of age she had not only so far as the second grade and was really a problem for her grandmother, who was rearing her with her two sisters and one brother.

Aliments Found

Then a teacher, a little more inclined to investigation than the others, found by some simple tests that Willetta couldn't see well or hear well. She was brought to the attention of a field agent for the school for the blind, who took her to the institution. For several years, despite the most sympathetic attention and scientific methods of the officials and teachers at the school, Willetta didn't improve much. Her disposition, if anything, grew worse.

Two years ago she became deaf; a year ago she became blind. For a week she was more morose, if anything, than before. Then one day suddenly came an awakening—the result of her sudden perception of her powers of smelling and feeling.

Excels Helen Keller

Today Willetta Huggins, through the development of her powers of smelling and feeling, has become more marvelous than even Helen Keller.

"Maybe it is a gift of God in return for the loss of my sight and hearing," is Willetta's only explanation.

Some have been skeptical. They thought the girl still had some powers of vision. To convince them she was given yarn of six colors, in six separate envelopes, and locked in a bank vault at Chippewa Falls. In this blindness she opened the envelopes, smelled the yarn, wrote the color of each strand on an envelope, and put the yarn of that color in its respective envelope. When the vault was opened it was found she had made no mistake.

Hears by Feeling

She can hear by feeling vibrations. If she talks over the telephone, she merely places the tip of her finger on the receiver diaphragm. If she is listening to someone converse, she rests her finger lightly on the person's throat, shoulder or chest.

So acute is her sense of hearing by feeling, that she can tell what Superintendent J. T. Hooper of the school is saying by standing 10 feet from him, and taking hold of the end of a wooden pole, the other end of which rests on the top of his head.

Willetta recently visited Governor John J. Blaine at the state capitol at Madison. She listened to him by placing her fingers on his shoulder, and she easily told the colors of his coat by smelling it.

Tells Size of Bills

Major E. A. Fitzpatrick, secretary of the state board of education, said to Willetta: "Can you tell the denominations of bills?"

"Surely," she said.

He tested her with $1, $2, $5 and $10 greenbacks. She identified each.

"How do you do it?" he marveled.

"By feeling the numerals," she said.

She tells the number of persons in a room by her sense of smell. A cat entered a room noiselessly. "Who let the cat in?" she inquired, immediately.

"I smell it."

She told Governor Blaine: "I am more happy without my vision and hearing than I was before. I guess it's because I understand better, by smelling and feeling—and so I make others understand me better."

Superintendent's Plan

But Superintendent Hooper of the school sees a far-reaching lesson in all this. Briefly it is:

"Willetta was miserable for years because she was misunderstood. She was being forced to use her senses of seeing and hearing, which were quite deficient, while the proper thing would have been to develop her senses of smelling and feeling, which were quite extraordinary.

"There is such a balance in every one. So now, with Willetta's aid, we are trying to work out a system which will enable us to understand this balance, and to give the world advantage of it for the training of other children."

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

GEN. DIAZ AT NEWPORT

Commander-in-Chief of the Armies of Italy Begins Three-Day Rest

NEWPORT, R. I., Nov. 8.—Feted almost continuously since his arrival in this country, Gen. Armando Vittorio Diaz, commander-in-chief of the armies of Italy, was to come here this afternoon for a three-day rest. He will be the guest of Dr. George Cerio, a personal friend, until late Thursday, when he will go to Washington to participate in the ceremonies in honor of America's unknown soldier.

The hero of Plave had sent word ahead of his desire for complete repose, so far as possible, from formal affairs.

It was arranged that he should be met by a destroyer at Wickford upon his arrival from New York by train. A reception committee of his fellow countrymen was to escort him aboard the destroyer and accompany him on the run through Narragansett bay to this city.

Upon his arrival here, he will be officially welcomed by Mayor J. D. Mahoney and army and navy officers of high rank. The general will then proceed to city hall under escort of a company of coast artillery where he will place a wreath on the memorial tablet erected there in honor of the city's world war dead. After brief ceremonies, he will motor to the home of Dr. Cerio.

BURKE HEAD OF BOSTON SCHOOL

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—Jeremiah B. Burke was elected superintendent of the Boston public schools last night at a special meeting of the school board, and William B. Snow, headmaster of the English high school, was appointed assistant superintendent, taking the place left vacant on the board of assistant superintendents by the promotion of Supt. Burke.

On the first ballot for election of a superintendent, Miss Francesa Curtis voted for Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools at Washington and formerly a member of the board of superintendents in Boston. Committee men Lane, O'Connor, Scannell and Hogan voted for Mr. Burke. Miss Curtis then announced that as Mr. Burke seemed to be the choice of the other members of the board, she requested a second ballot, when she might vote for Mr. Burke, thus making his election unanimous. The election of headmaster Snow as assistant superintendent was unanimous.

The term of office of the superintendent expires in 1924, and the term of office of the assistant superintendent elected expires in 1927.

MRS. MARY WILHELM, Pittsburgh, Pa.

"No matter what I should say about Tanlac, it wouldn't be half good enough," said Mrs. Mary Wilhelm, 718 Mini Way, South Side, Pittsburgh, Pa. "I never dreamed it possible for a medicine to restore me to the splendid health I now enjoy. In fact, I had almost resigned myself to being an invalid, as I could see I was losing weight and strength every day, and no relief was in sight. For three years stomach trouble, headaches and nervousness made my life miserable.

The first bottle of Tanlac acted almost like magic and it wasn't long until I was so well and strong that I could hardly realize I had ever known a sick day. I am like a different person in every way now, eating, sleeping, feeling and looking better than in years."

Tanlac and Tanlac Vegetable Pills are sold in Lowell, by Green's Drug Store under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative, by Wright Drug Co., Billerica, Mass.; A. D. Fells, Chelmsford, Mass.; Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass., and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

UNKNOWN WOMAN ENDS LIFE IN BOSTON

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—Apparently despondent because of unemployment, an attractive and respectable appearing young woman, who registered at the lodging house at 658 Massachusetts avenue, South End, last Saturday morning about 10 o'clock under the name of Barbara Grayson of 303 Bromfield road, Worcester, committed suicide by gas.

Her body was found yesterday afternoon about 2:30 by the landlady, Mrs. Mary Campbell, who was distributing towels in the rooms. She tried the door of the woman's room on the third floor rear, and finding it locked, opened it with her pass key and was immediately met by a rush of illuminating gas, which almost overcame her.

She took a quick survey of the room and discovered the body of the young woman lying on the bed, undressed. She shut off the gas and opened all the windows, the cracks of which were stuffed with paper, as were those around the door.

The lady ran downstairs, notified another woman in the house and Dr. Roy A. Sadler of 652 Massachusetts avenue was summoned. He expressed the opinion that the woman had been dead for two hours.

The local police notified the Worcester police, who later reported that no such name as Barbara Grayson appears in the city directory and there is no such number on the street given by the young woman as her home. A canvass of that neighborhood did not reveal any trace of a woman by the name of Grayson, or of any young woman missing.

BURCH, ALLEGED MURDERER, SANE

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 8.—Arthur C. Burch, indicted for murder in connection with the slaying of J. Bolton Kennedy, broker, here last August, was adjudged legally sane here yesterday by Superior Judge S. F. ... The court denied a motion that Burch be granted a sanity trial before ... the murder case.

SWEET POTATO RECORD

South is Harvesting Largest Crop in History—Worth About $14,000

BY N. E. A. SERVICE
MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 8.—The south is harvesting the largest sweet potato crop in its history, due to increase in acreage.

Total production of sweet potatoes in the United States this year will be approximately 14,000,000 bushels. More than one-fifth of the crop is being raised in Arkansas, Mississippi and Tennessee.

The average production per acre this year will be about 103 bushels, compared with 107 bushels last year. Thirteen southern states producing sweet potatoes probably will realize an average value of $12.35 per acre from this year's crop.

Such a price means one dollar a bushel.

Thousands of bushels have been placed in storage.

Women of Middle Age

THE critical stage of a woman's life usually comes between the years of 45 and 55, and is often beset with annoying symptoms such as nervousness irritability, melancholia, heat flashes which produce headache and dizziness, and a sense of suffocation. Guard your health carefully, for if this period be passed over safely, many years of perfect health may be enjoyed.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is especially adapted to help women through this crisis. It exercises a restorative influence, tones and strengthens the system, and assists nature in the long weeks and months covering this period. It is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and contains no harmful drugs or narcotics. Its value is proven by many such letters as these:

Afton, Tenn.—"I want other suffering women to know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. During Change of Life I was in bed for 13 months and had good care, but did not improve. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which I did, and in a short time I felt better. That was five years ago, and now when I feel run down and nervous I take the Compound and it always does me good. I wish all women would try it during Change of Life, for I know it will do them good."—Mrs. A. KELLER, Afton, Tenn.

Thomas, Okla.—"I first used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in my girlhood days, by the advice of a friend. At the age of 47 I was troubled with dizziness, hot flashes, and became very weak so that I was unable to do any work. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with the result that I felt better and stronger than I have for years. I have also given it to my three daughters, and always with good results. The Vegetable Compound is certainly grand for the ills of women."—Mrs. J. G. SWAREY, Route B, Thomas, Okla.

$250,000 SMILE!JIM'S GOT IT

By N. E. A. Service
AQUA PRIETA, Mexico Nov. 8.— Jim Joe, Chinaman merchant prince of Aqua Prieta, has one.
 He landed here, several years ago, with just enough money to start a small store. Long before he mastered

Spanish and English he learned to smile. His customers talked about that smile—and more customers resulted.
 Then he opened a cafe—and smiled;
 then a cabaret and another store. Each time Jim started business with his habitual smile.
 Today he is worth a quarter of a million, and has given thousands of dollars, to charity.

NEW AMERICANIZATION PLAN SUGGESTED

A new Americanization plan, the adoption of which would materially aid the work of reducing illiteracy in the United States, is suggested by Congressman John Jacob Rogers in a letter sent to Dr. Payson Smith, state commissioner of education. Congressman Rogers suggests that the state make arrangements with the federal census bureau to secure the names of all illiterates in the state. He said, in part, that in Lowell, out of 90,509 persons more than 10 years of age, 6231, or one out of every 14 or 15, cannot write in any language. He believes that the evening schools and the state Americanization units, will be enabled with the census data before them to greatly cut down this number. The congressman believes the work of transcribing the names from the census rolls would not cost more than $5000. Census figures show that there are 8,105,796 persons in Massachusetts 10 years of age or over, and one out of every 20 of this number is unable to read or write.

YEAST SOON BANISHES UGLY SKIN BLEMISHES

When Taken With Iron In Convenient Tablet Form

Everyone is now familiar with the splendid results brought about by yeast in treating such skin troubles as pimples, boils, blackheads, etc. But there were thousands of people who couldn't eat common baking yeast, due to its disagreeable taste. So it remained to certain prominent scientists to find a way in which yeast could be taken in pleasant and convenient tablet form. The result of their research is Ironized Yeast, which is now the approved vitamin tonic treatment.

People everywhere are now taking Ironized Yeast and the results reported are almost unbelievable. Not only is Ironized Yeast fine for clearing up the complexion, it brings equally remarkable results in treating thinness, low vitality, nervousness, weakness, poor appetite and other symptoms of run-down conditions. Even after the first few days people say they notice decidedly beneficial effects from Ironized Yeast. This is because Ironized Yeast is rich in vitamins, which have been found absolutely essential to good health. Modern cooking robs even our best foods of these all-important elements, and as a result we become run-down, sickly, nervous and thin.

Ironized Yeast contains highly concentrated brewer's yeast, which is richer in vitamins than baking yeast, and in addition contains organic or vegetable iron, the great blood-builder. So if you are run-down, or if you suffer with humiliating skin blemishes, you owe it to yourself to try Ironized Yeast.

Ironized Yeast is pleasant to take, keeps indefinitely, and costs about the same to the dose as common yeast, but is much more effective. Each package contains 10 days' treatment and costs only a dollar, or just 10c a day. Special directions for children in each package. Sold at good drug stores everywhere. Made by the Ironized Yeast company, Atlanta, Ga.—Adv.

CHRISTMAS STAMPS AND SEALS SALE

The Lowell anti-tuberculosis council opened its campaign for the sale of Christmas stamps and seals this afternoon, the first meeting of the members being called for 4.30 o'clock in the chamber of commerce quarters. Mrs. Tyler A. Stevens is one of the campaign leaders, and it is expected that the holiday sale of stamps and seals will be larger than ever, as an effort will be made to place the packages in numerous stores where they can be readily obtained.

One new member was initiated and one application for membership, was received at the regular meeting of Loyal Wamset lodge, 7102, I.O.O.F., M.U., which was held last evening in Odd Fellows' building, Middlesex st., with N.G. William Bamber in the chair. Routine business was transacted.

AUTOMOBILE BURNED
A sedan automobile owned by Harry Dunn of Nashua, N. H., was destroyed by fire on the Princeton boulevard at a point near the Palardy bungalow Sunday. It is believed the fire was caused by a short circuit in the battery.

LADIES' AUXILIARY
Officers for the ensuing year will be nominated at the next meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Post St. American Legion. It was decided at the meeting held last night. The following nominating committee was appointed: Miss Nellie Fife, chairman, Mrs. Edward McHermott and Loreta Mercer. The ladies voted to accept the invitation of the post to attend the Armistice observance at city hall, Friday. The convalescent ex-service men at the Groton hospital will be entertained by the auxiliary here at a future date. It was voted, the post to furnish the transportation.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER
Miss Bella Lantagne, a popular young lady of Centralville, was agreeably surprised last evening when about eighty of her girl friends joined her to Matthew hall on Central street where she was tendered a miscellaneous shower, including many beautiful and useful presents. Miss Lantagne is soon to become the bride of John J. Bowers, a well known young man who is prominent in fraternal circles. During the evening an excellent program of entertainment was carried out, the feature of which was a muck marriage. Miss May Hewson acted as minister. Miss Nellie Thomas as bride and Miss Lillian Shea as groom. Miss Mary Burrows was flower-girl and Miss Beatrice Lafrenesse ring-bearer. The ceremony was very amusing. The balance of the program included songs by Misses Alice Welch, Nellie Thomas, Catherine Dunlavy and Bella Lantagne.

lagne, a grotesque dancing specialty by Miss Mary Burrows and piano solos by Misses Beatrice Lafrenesse and Anna Ecklund. The latter also played the wedding march for the mock marriage. Refreshments were served and during the latter part of the evening dancing was enjoyed to the music of Undy's orchestra. Misses Nellie Thomas, Lillian Shea, Bertha Lantagne and Eva Lantagne were a committee on arrangements.

104TH INF. VETERANS WILL HONOR FOCH

A feature of Marshal Foch's Boston visit on November 14 will be the presentation, by 104th Infantry veterans, of a replica of the boulder unveiled at Camp Bartlett last April the decoration of the regiment's colors by the French following the battle of Apremont, April 11-14, 1915. The bronze tablet by Sculptor Bruce Wilder Saville is a faithful representation of the memorable ceremony in just behind the lines where in a four day fight this Y.D. regiment had broken the first concerted German at-lance on American troops and won a decisive and prophetic Yankee victory. The French recognized this achievement by bestowing the croix de guerre on the regimental colors, where it may now be seen in the hall of flags at state house. It was the first instance in our history of the decoration of an American unit by a foreign government.

The presentation will have a distinctive setting. When the marshal arrives at the Y. D. clubhouse at 11.30 a. m. a freight car of the immortal "40 hommes, 3 chevaux" model will be on the tracks opposite. It will contain its specified cargo of doughboys, some among them hearing news of the Apremont battle. From the hospitable side door, from which a few years back they viewed most of France, they will now present to France's most illustrious son a token of their affection General W. A. Hayes of Springfield will be spokesman, and the 104th drew its members from practically every city and town in Massachusetts, all parts of the state will be represented. A reunion dinner was planned in conjunction with the exercises which, because of unsuitable timing, will be held at the club Thursday evening, November 17th. General Edwards and Cole will be guests, and every 104th man, in the eastern end of the state at least, is expected.

REGISTRATION SESSIONS
Names were added to the voting lists at yesterday's sessions at the election commission's office. The registration by wards was: ward 1, 23; ward 2, 5; ward 3, 35; ward 4, 11; ward 5, 10; ward 6, 11; ward 7, 13; ward 8, 13; ward 9, 19; total, 144. CANCELLING WAR LOANS

Apparently we have annoyed our mounting contemporary in our objection to his practical admission that the best thing the government at Washington can do is to cancel our war loans to the allies for the alleged reasons that (a) the debtor nations cannot pay in gold, (b) if they did pay in gold the increase in the yellow metal would seriously affect our currency, and (c) if they paid in commodities, the result would injure our industries and thereby do us more harm than good.

Thus, according to this contention voiced by our neighbor, the payment of our war loans by the allies in any form is going to hurt us awfully and hence to avert the danger, some exceedingly far-sighted people, mainly in the debtor nations and who are very solicitous for our interests, are in favor of cancelling these loans outright.

This disposal of the loans is being assiduously agitated by the press and certain statesmen representing the debtor nations; and their appeal, although in our opinion very unpardonable, will become more insistent if it is endorsed and approved by any great portion of the American press.

We are opposed to cancellation because all the arguments in favor of it are based on the assumption that because the debtor nations are unable to pay now, they can never pay.

Of course, nobody expects that these nations can pay this debt of about ten billions of dollars at this time or even in the near future; and because of this fact, the United States government has very wisely arranged for the refunding of the debt so that they can pay it at their convenience or on terms that will suit their circumstances. That, we believe, should be the limit of our concessions.

When these nations shall have recovered from the more immediate effects of the war, this whole matter will appear in a different light.

Most people will admit that it is not fair to the United States to urge the present impoverished condition of the debtor nations as a reason for cancellation, because if the facts were known, this country is not much better off industrially than some of the nations that want these debts cancelled. England, for example, is supporting her unemployed by weekly cash allowances. That is more than we can do for our service men.

Another reason why we should not cancel this debt is that we asked for nothing from the allied powers or from the defeated nations, in the line of territory or indemnity, whereas, all the leading nations with which we were associated in the war, have been given additional territory and colonies, now conveniently named mandates. Moreover, they are receiving their per capita share of the war indemnity assessed upon Germany and Austria. Yet in spite of all these facts, some of our associates in the war think that it would be the proper thing on our part to cancel the war loans given them in their dire necessity from funds borrowed from the American people.

What makes this proposition still more objectionable is that its proponents claim that in fighting Germany the allies were fighting our battle as well as their own. In other words, they want this debt cancelled because, forgoth, they saved us from destruction by Germany.

We claim that they were in dire straits, all but beaten, and that only the entrance of the United States saved them from defeat or a compromise peace.

The interest on these loans has not been paid, although, as Senator Walsh has stated, it would come in quite handy at present to help us pay our service men part of the compensation to which they are entitled. It seems that our government is disposed to be quite generous in regard to such matters. This was well illustrated a few months ago when England sent her bill for $50,000,000 for helping transport our troops across the Atlantic. We might have credited the amount to her interest account and asked for a receipted bill; but no, we sent her Uncle Sam's check for the full amount.

The condition of the allied nations will undergo a great change in the next five or ten years and by that time, the payment of these loans may not look so very onerous. Meantime, however, the allies may be able to pay the interest; but whether even that shall be enforced will depend upon the plan of refunding and other developments. It is said that insistence on payment of these loans will injure us with the debtor nations. We don't see why it should; but if the loans be cancelled, the money will be used to add these nations in beating us in the markets of the world.

It is claimed that if these nations be obliged to pay the loans, they will be unable to resist a trade invasion by Germany; but the refunding process will leave them more or less indifferent to the debt for quite a number of years.

Thus far, there has been no good reason advanced in favor of cancellation and as this money was taken from the pockets of the American people, we believe Uncle Sam will not, as our neighbor insinuates, be playing a Shylockian role by refusing to honor the propaganda that favors cancellation. We should be just before being generous; and the maxim is still true, that charity should begin at home.

The London Outlook, the Statist, the Times and several other prominent London papers are all in accord in saying that world trade cannot revive until the international debts that weigh down all countries are erased or wiped out. These papers assert that not until then can the foreign exchange be quieted down.

It may be remarked that inasmuch as England has loaned heavily to other European nations that are not likely to have the ability to pay for many years to come, and as the indebtedness of the allies to the United States is greater than what other nations owe England, she would be the gainer by this arrangement. It will be noted, however, that these assumptions of inability to pay are all based upon present conditions in Europe and make no allowance for the powers of recuperation in the various nations overrun by war, such for example as France, which is said to be coming back quite rapidly.

The agitation for general cancellation has gone so far that it will undoubtedly be a leading subject of discussion at the armistice conference at Washington, opening on Nov. 11. So far as can be judged, however, the United States authorities are not in favor of the movement and are not ready to accept the British view of the European situation as being entirely hopeless unless all debts are cancelled.

'WILL ULSTER YIELD?

Recent dispatches indicate that a very critical stage has been reached in the negotiations for the settlement of the Irish question. It seems to be understood that an agreement has been reached between the Sinn Féin delegation and the representatives of the British government. Instead of calling Ireland a republic she is to be an "Associate Nation" with a central parliament in Dublin and provincial parliaments in Ulster, Cork and possibly also in Galway. So far as can be learned from the snatches of news received from London and Dublin it appears that Ireland is to have complete self-government without any reservation whatever such as had been provided in the home rule act of 1914, restricting the powers of the local government.

This arrangement, of course, will require the rescinding of the partition act under which the Ulster parliament was established and which provided for a similar parliament in the south of Ireland, but as the republicans did not recognize this act as just or adequate, they refused to accept its provisions. An effort was made to open a parliament in the south, but with the exception of a few government officials, including a doorkeeper and some members of the Royal Irish constabulary, the parliament did not materialize. The Irish members elected merely to prevent others from filling the places, refused to attend.

The Ulster premier is now holding conferences with Lloyd George in London and of course, he will squirm and protest and do some loud talking; but in the end, we believe, he will have to comply with the wishes of the prime minister. The British government has already allowed Ulster far too much latitude in creating trouble. It was Ulster that threatened rebellion in 1914, caused the withdrawal of the home rule act, which was a direct cause of the southern rebellion and all the trouble and bloodshed which have since resulted. A few weeks ago one of the London papers made an ominous remark as to what would happen if Ulster left to fight her own battles against the other provinces of Ireland. The people of that province are at the present time in a bad way as a result of the business boycott maintained by the south on account of the shipyard expulsion; and this boycott is not likely to be lifted until the national question is settled.

We do not expect that Ulster will be required to make any great sacrifice, except she so regards her compliance with the wishes of the government to enter the central parliament of Ireland with a representation based upon her numerical strength. Indeed the south may be willing to make concessions in this respect in order to secure a united Ireland; and in any case, we do not expect that Ulster will hold out against the appeals of the prime minister and the Tory leaders of England to an extent that might lead to the resignation of the premier and smash the coalition, after which the Tories would probably be in the minority.

There is no doubt, whatever, that if the government appealed to the country on the question of forcing Ulster to agree to the arrangement reached with the south of Ireland, it would be sustained by an overwhelming majority. For this reason, we believe that Ulster will see the wisdom of yielding in the appeals of the prime minister. Refusal might result in a smashup of the entire conference, the overthrow of the government, the renewal of hostilities in Ireland and a condition that would be very much worse than any phase of the conflict as conducted during the past two years. The whole world is interested in the settlement of this question and it means much for England as well as for Ireland at the present time. The peace of the world is more dependent upon the settlement of this question than most people imagine. It is, therefore, to be hoped that Ulster will not run counter to the interests of the Empire and of Ireland to the extent of destroying the present opportunity of settling a national question that has been a source of weakness and of danger to England and a cause of misery and suffering to Ireland for the last 75 years.

THE DIVORCE EVIL

The list of divorces granted at the ordinary court session in Lowell or any other city of its kind, is a striking commentary upon the instability of marriage as entered into by a large proportion of the couples who nowadays rush headlong into wedlock. The statistics of divorce all over the country indicate that out of every five marriages, one divorce is granted. That is a most serious state of affairs. It indicates a condition of the American home that is really alarming.

Unless the business of the divorce court is reduced by at least three-fourths of what it has done at present, the moral fabric of society and the stability, not to speak of the sanctity, of the home, will be seriously undermined. The divorce question is one that challenges the serious consideration of the religious denominations that countenance it and of the legislators who permit the marriage tie to be broken on flimsy pretexts.

The tax revision bill passed by the United States senate will offer but slight relief from the present system. The bonus amendment was again defeated, a fact that is not calculated to inspire confidence in republican promises among the service men.

We seem to think that political contests run riot here; but just think of the conditions in Boston, where Murphy, Curley, Pelletier, O'Connor and Baxter are all spouting in the majority light, and each showing why he should be preferred to the others.

Judge Enright should be sustained in his effort to drive drunken autoists off the highways. There will still remain far too many of the reckless kind.

Some political campaign workers, without doubt honest in their endeavors to promote interest in their candidates, are fast approaching the vacuum stage.

Premier Lloyd George's cancellation of his steamship passage does not mean, of course, that he is thinking of coming over in a submarine.

Scrapes of paper come home to roost, too, like the German mark, for example.

Undertakers who furnish flower baskets stamped "Made in Germany," ought to rub off the trade mark.

Unnecessary Caution
A new guard was on duty at the prison and was conducting a prisoner to his cell. "They came to a corner of the corridor, owing to alterations being made, was rather dark, a screen being over the nearest window. "Look out," warned the warden. "There's a step here!" "Cut your cake, mate!" muttered the prisoner. "I knew that step before you were born."

Foolish Question
In a neighborhood where "war gardens" were very popular there are still many of them because they still save the family many dollars. "Hart was 8 years old, was hard at work hoeing the young onions, when the woman near door asked: "Harry, in your mother home?" Harry stopped and leaning on the hoe, replied: "Mrs. S, you don't think I would be working like this if my mother wasn't home?"

Verbal Coincidences
When Grover Cleveland was president of the United States he was invited to deliver a Pilgrim day speech in Brooklyn. His friend and biographer, George F. Parker, knowing that the president did not prepare easily, and thinking that some suggestions from him might be acceptable, sent to the president an editorial of his own, containing among other things this sentence: "About this time, look out for speeches about the Pilgrims and the Puritans." Mr. Cleveland wrote back that he had begun the preparation of his address, and as quoted a sentence from it as follows: "We used to see in almanacs, opposite certain days of the year upon which we were entering the prophet of old, 'Look out for rain about these days.' It would hardly be amiss to find now in our almanacs opposite the latter part of December, 'About these days, look out for the Pilgrims.'" The thought was identical. The words were so nearly the same, it would have been of quite impossible to guess that the man who put the words in the paper had written these words before the arrival of Parker's letter and editorial if he had not actually done so. There is some actual stealing of ideas some of it reprehensible, and some perhaps meritorious. Not many of us have had original ideas. We do about as well as can be expected of us if we steal wisely. The man from whom we steal may have stolen from some one, and he from someone else, back to Adam. It is the stealing of the ideas of the plagiarist and the evidence of the deadly parallel column by saying, "I put quotation marks around any whole sermon." But beside stealing, both the virtuous and the vicious, there is honest duplication of thinking. Great minds run in the same channel, and so do some other minds.

Back from the War
You, who have fought in France, You, who have seen the world slip that fell from the crystal cup of life before it was dashed from your lips. What was the consequence of this? A night of romance? A kiss? A star, whose love was a life? What were the joys that you left behind?

You, who have fought in France, And lived through the years of war; You, who were young and glad, And never had known before, Of the horror of any awful sight, Or the dread suspense of the waiting night.

That came to torture a tired mind— What part of your soul have you left behind?

You, who have fought in France; You, who were weary mine, I see in your weary eyes The thoughts that I cannot define. What are you thinking of? But something calls to you "Over There!"

Something has left you merely kind, What part of your heart have you left behind?

Acton celebrated the 120th anniversary of the Concord Fight on April 19, 1895, by issuing a souvenir program that was a beauty in its day. I happened to get one of them from an Acton friend. Some of the advertising pages proved interesting indeed, especially when prices were quoted. On page 3, for instance, there was an advertisement of page size announcing goods on sale by the Lowell Clothing company on Merrimack street. The leader in the advertisement was as follows:

"We call special attention to our line of black clay-diagonal worsted suits that we are selling for $10 a suit. The usual price elsewhere for these suits is from $12 to $15, but our price is $16 a suit. We have a full line of dress and business suits ranging from $10 up to $15 equal in every respect to the best custom tail work. Serviceable children's suits from $1.25 to $5. 'Little Giant' suits, warranted not to rip, 45 per cent off."

Other prices in this souvenir program are also worth perusal. Bicycles sold for $100. Two Lowell sarapantils were heavily advertised in those days in every country town whenever fairs or concerts were held that called for programs or catalogues. Hack, livery and boarding stables were then all the rage, and wheelwrights and carriagebuilders were busy men as indicated by the program.

A communication has recently been published in a local paper which appears to insinuate that the recent election of a janitress at the Morey Junior high school was influenced by a consideration of political expediency on the part of certain members of the committee. The answer given to this communication does not seem to tell the whole story and a member of the school board explained the matter to the writer. The civil service authorities certified the names of three women as qualified to fill the position and after Principal Bennett had interviewed these women and looked into their qualifications, he recommended Mrs. Mary E. Durant for the position. When the matter was brought before the school committee at its meeting on Oct. 25, Supervisor of Janitors William Thornton stated all this and as a result Mrs. Durant was elected. Messrs. Bergeron and Warner took the ground that it was inadvisable to create the position of janitress, and that if it was necessary to create the position, it should be filled by a man. Mr. Warner also would have favored selection under other circumstances. The management of children, it is said.

MONEY ORDERS

Canadian Orders Payable at Full Face Value

Money orders drawn by postmasters in Canada on postmasters in the United States are payable at the office designated at their full face value, without deduction of postoffice or exchange. The Canadian postoffice department, recognizing the difference in value between the currencies of the two countries, collects from the remitters of such orders a commission approximately equal to the difference, and provides for payment of a premium on orders issued in the United States and drawn on offices in Canada.

A resident of Canada desiring to effect payment at any postoffice in this country of $100 may be required to pay in at the office of issue possibly $105, $110, or $112, according to the prevailing rate of exchange, but the order is made out for $100, and the payee is entitled to receive $100 in United States currency without deduction of any kind.

Money orders ordered in orders passing in both directions represent values in United States money. Bankers and business men generally are presumed to understand these conditions, but there is considerable misapprehension on the subject in other quarters. It should be understood that the commissions charged in Canada on postal money orders payable in the United States and the premium paid in Canada on United States orders are not at any fixed rate, but fluctuate according to the movements of exchange. Changes in the rates are announced by the postoffice department of Canada for the guidance of its agents.

SAMUEL MCCLURE AT WOMEN'S CLUB

Samuel S. McClure, traveler, author and publicist, and founder of McClure's magazine, was the speaker at the weekly meeting of the Middlesex Women's club yesterday afternoon.

The vital problems of America at the present time were the topics of his address, particularly the Japanese problem. He stressed the fact that both America and Japan were right from their own points of view, but that America must do one of two things—either submit to the Japanese viewpoint or defend itself. He advocated the latter.

In opening, Mr. McClure stated that one of the first things he had noticed in Lowell were posters announcing a lecture on "The World With the World." He said that this surprised him very much, as he thought there was nothing wrong with the world. He cited the case of Polish farm laborers who in seven years were able to purchase their own farms, and of gatherings of foreign elements where in not a single grumble was heard relative to existing conditions. He asserted that it was much the same all over the country. There never before was such a chance to get along if one is willing to work.

Proceeding to his real address, Mr. McClure traced the progress of the white race in world domination. This dominance has caused much hatred on the part of other races, who resent the white man's asserted superiority. The English-speaking white man rules more territory than the others of the race, and this rule must be maintained, as the whole world would be plunged into chaos if it were overthrown.

After recounting the expansion of this country from the beginning of its history to the present day, the speaker passed on to a review of the conditions in Japan. He said no farmers are as poor as the Japanese farmers on account of their country's congested population and limited resources, whereas there are a people of great culture, there being in spite of their poverty, an illiteracy rate of but 1.2 per cent, in comparison to from 5 to 10 per cent in this country.

They feel that the white race is not entitled to the best of everything since God made everything for all people. The increase in population in Japan is so great that there must be expansion in some direction, and they are looking to Australia, Canada and the United States as countries of unlimited resources.

Probably the most congested corner in the country is the one prosperity is hanging just around.

There would be more astronomers if stars were tight.

They're tinkering now with the tariff, And when all the tinkers get through, I know just the way I will fare, If they do what I think they will do; They'll subsidize all who demand it, They'll boost every duty they can— And me? Oh, I'll grumble—and stand by.

For I am an "Average Man."

They talk of revising taxation, For Capital's raising a row, So all the wise heads in the nation Are dishing new schedules now; I don't know what tax they may levy; I cannot quite follow their plan— But I'll get the end that is heavy, For I am an "Average Man."

I kick, but it doesn't avail me, I grumble and mumble and fret, I swear at the troubles that all me, But little relief do I get; By quiet, determined endeavor I might cure these ills of my clan, But doubtless I'll bear them forever, For I am an "Average Man." (Copyright, 1921, The Lowell Sun.)

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

Adventures of The Twins

OLD MR. BLHENNY

As Nancy and Nick passed Mr. Blenny's house on their way to look for Mrs. Blenny and all the others, a voice called to them. Not a voice in the water where all the Wiggins people lived, but a voice outside of the water. So the twins poked their heads up into the air to see who it was. To their astonishment there lay Mr. Blenny, fish himself right on top of the rock and staring thoughtfully out to sea.

"Oh, my!" said Nancy in dismay. "Hadden't you better come into the water at once, Mr. Blenny? You'll suffocate out there in the air!"

Mr. Blenny turned his round bullet head and thoughtful eyes toward them indignantly, and looked at both of them at once. He was queer and Mr. Blenny had, he could move them any-which-way at all, and could conveniently look at the sunset and watch the moon come up on the other side of the world at the same time.

"No more than you will in the wa-ter," he answered slowly. "You're not Wiggins, are you? And with that he again bent his tired gaze out to sea."

"Oh, but we have Magic Green Shoes!" answered Nick, "that takes us anywhere."

"And I have a magic figment in my body which lets me go out into fresh air for an hour or two at a time, and a pair of magic fins I can climb with," answered the blenny. "I like to eat them and hunt for bar-acles. I eat them. By the way, you're not birds, are you?"

"No. Why?"

"Birds like blennies. They eat us and I have to be careful. There! I guess I'll have to go in now and look after the children. Did you see Bridget?"

"Bridget?"

"Yes, my wife. She's gadding."

"We'll hunt her," promised the blenny as they disappeared.

a friend, who is spending the winter in the south. Business is very good with them, but the receipts of the place are not large enough to meet the in-creased cost of the establishment with the result that a calamity is about to befall them. The owner, a Russian count, steps in and helps the pair financially.

In "The Shrikehawk," Frank Mayo factors in two love romances that are very enjoyable. First in his home town with the daughter of a wealthy financier and later in one of the South Sea Islands with an orphaned girl. The story is ablaze with incidents dramatic and deals mostly with a white child who has been reared among the natives on a South Sea island. It disclosed her country to natives and their power and their great love for her. Her romantic wedding to the hero of the play, who after being shipwrecked was cast on the island, is an unusual feature.

The comedy is very enjoyable, while the current events, which show numerous happenings in various parts of the world, and which features the recent Harvard-Princeton football game, are excellent. The organ selections are also very pleasing.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE:

An old familiar story told in a new way with many departures from the out-and-out method of definition, plus action from start to finish and with a real plot of stirring interest, is "The Love Bandit," a romantic drama of society and the underworld, presented by the Lowell Players for the first time at the Opera House last evening.

The story revealed by these capable players is one that holds the attention from the opening scene. It is a story of the old, old struggle between red blood and blue. Jim Blazes, son of a northern lumberman, rich after a life-long battle among the huskies of the frozen climes, was a New Yorker in name only. Untried in the ways of so-called society, but with a heart far less advanced than it ought to have been, this fighting son of an educated man of wealth, loved Amy Van Clayton, daughter of one of New York's first families. Working in the lumber office of Blazes, was Amy's brother Fred, a never-do-well chump, familiar with wild ways and learning the game with other wild youth. The Van Claytons, having lost their immense fortune, were compelled to seek employment to maintain the family status. As far as possible, and the girl became Blazes' office assistant.

The brother, finally induced by a gambler, was broken by heavy losses, and then to "borrow" money from the player. One package of money disappeared, and Jim Blazes is about to notice the police and have sent to jail for the stolen money. Jim proposes marriage to the girl, believing that he social status will aid him in getting into society and becoming "somebody." Amy, however, is not so easily deceived, but the arrangement is made simply to save her brother.

Trouble brews in the north, and Jim's life is a new drama. He is now a hero as he starts for the woods to have charge of the big log float coming down in the spring. The story continues with much dramatic and action-packed scenes. The battle in the woods, the capture of the log float, and the arrival of the wife from her city home to stand by the side of her husband, are depicted with remarkable fidelity and splendid detail.

Shirley Magrath, as Amy Van Clayton, is a charming and capable actress. She is charming in her role, both in the New York office as employee, and later as the devoted wife of a log-float-bound husband, Jim Blazes. Raymond Mads, the new leading man of the Players, displayed unusual talents. His playing of two violin solos in the moonlight, and his stand alone in the moonlight, were of great value. He is a violinist of great ability.

Richard Castilla, as Henri Barbeau, Jim's valiant friend of the north and his foreman in the wood-working gang, gave a splendid portrayal of a French-Canadian workman and lover. His scenes with Mads, the new leading man of the Players, were a delight, and his acting was of great value. Miss Mads, who is a very capable and her dramatic and action-packed scenes, were of great value. He is a violinist of great ability.

Clarence Chase, the Snapper Rollins of the Lowell Players, was a splendid cast. Miss Marion Coogan had a splendid role as an ingenue. Her Lottie Minkahay, proving a genuine portrayal throughout. John Strong, appearing as Fred Van Clayton, brother of Amy, displayed his value as a stock player.

One of the best character parts was that of the well-known actor, Charles Ray, in "The Midnight Bell." The story is in "Crossing Trails" and Buster Keaton in "The Goat." It will be readily seen that the program is one of varied entertainment, and the players are of great value. He is a violinist of great ability.

In "A Midnight Bell" Ray is seen as the bluff salesman in a small country town where the life and attractions of city life are rarely experienced. He breezes into the town as a whole-sale dealer in rubber boots and his attempts to dispose of them to the crafty storekeepers are screen gems. Later, obtaining a position in one of the leading stores, he sets out to show the proprietor how to make sales, using a judicious mixture of flattery, salesmanship and guile to put over the finishing touches. These are scenes which keep the audience in rapt attention from the start of the picture to the finish.

Despite the fact that the picture is brim full of the inevitable Ray comedy, the feature of the picture is the pretty daughter of the leading banker of the town, and the attempts of a quintet of crooks to break into her father's bank. The picture is a town causes a considerable flurry and it is only after our hero breaks up their work and accomplishes their conviction that he is really able to realize his life's ambitions towards the pretty girl.

Soon after his arrival in the town Ray is startled by the news that the abandoned village church is haunted and that there are mysterious lights and noises to be heard and seen there every night. He sets out to investigate the stories and while in the bell tower, he discovers by them and after a terrible fight, during which he displays considerable athletic prowess, he is bound and gagged in the bell tower. He struggles towards the bell again and succeeds in giving the bell alarm just as the crooks are to make their entrance into the bank. He is rescuing the hero of the town, and naturally the love course runs very smoothly. In this production Ray is surrounded by a very capable cast of players who assist him in making it one of his best performances on the screen.

In the other attractions the Rialto has put forth a bill of great excellence. Pete Morrison's "Crossing Trails" appears in a thrilling western drama which is full of red blooded action, and Buster Keaton is funnier than ever in his latest comedy "The Goat."

SURE WAY TO GET RID OF BLACKHEADS

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads and that is to dissolve them.

To do this get two ounces of calomine powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear leaving the parts without any mark whatever. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions from the body that form in the pores of the skin—pinching and squeezing only cause irritation, make large pores, and do not get them out after they become hard. The calomine powder and the water simply dissolves the blackheads as they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition. Anybody troubled with these unsightly blemishes should certainly try this simple method.—Adv.

Paris Has Rooster That Smokes Cigarets

PARIS, Ky, Nov. 8.—Paris has been able from time to time, to boast of freaks of the animal kingdom, including five-legged calves and three-legged chickens, but for the first time it has as its guest a rooster that smokes cigarettes. Mr. and Mrs. Earl B. Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Orion Schele of Columbus, Ohio, who stopped in Paris today on their way to Florida, had with them two white Wyandotte roosters, "Warren G. Harding" and "Jimmie Cox," both of which have been trained to do a few tricks. Warren G., numbers among his accomplishments the ability to smoke a cigarette.

Leaders of Shoeworkers' Unions Confer

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—Representatives of New England shoeworkers' unions met in conference here today to consider the situation in the industry with respect to wages as developed by the proposal of the Lynn Shoe Manufacturers' association for a reduction of 20 per cent. It was said that union officials regarded the move in Lynn as merely the forerunner of a movement to similar purpose in other shoe manufacturing centers. Those who took part in the conference included officers of the United Shoe Workers of America, the Shoe Workers' Protective union and the Allied Shoe Workers. In resolutions made public at Lynn recently, they claimed to represent 50,000 operatives. At that time the resolutions called upon shoe workers to oppose the reduction.

have a majority of one in the state senate. A bitter fight has been waged for the control of the state legislative body, with the vote hanging on the result of four doubtful districts. Louisville elects a complete city ticket with five parties offering candidates for nearly all offices. These include the recently organized negro party, the Lincoln Independents.

Maryland elects a new comptroller, an entire house of delegates and 13 of the 27 members of the senate. New Jersey elects a new assembly and six state senators. The campaign there was based on a "wet and dry" issue, the republicans favoring a strict enforcement of the Van Ness state prohibition act, while the democrats generally favored its modification or repeal. The democrats cannot possibly get control of the state senate as 11 of the 15 holdover senators are republicans—a majority of the full house of 21. They expected, however, to get a majority in the lower house and to elect enough candidates to the senate to give them a majority on joint bills which would enable them to elect a democrat as state treasurer. The republicans are equally confident that their ticket will be successful. New York chooses a new assembly

two state senators and an associate judge of the court of appeals, in addition to voting on seven constitutional amendments. One of the most bitterly contested was that which gives world war veterans preference in civil service appointments. Mayoralty elections also were held in more than 40 cities of the state.

In Pennsylvania the state at large is to choose a justice of the supreme court while several cities, including Pittsburgh, Scranton and Lancaster will elect mayors. Issues generally are of a local character.

The principal mayoralty elections were in New York city, Detroit, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Toledo, Albany, Buffalo, Troy, Schenectady, Rochester and Syracuse. In New York city Mayor James Couzens of Detroit, seeking reelection, was opposed by Daniel W. Smith. Cleveland had seven candidates for mayor and Cincinnati four. In Albany which has been under a republican administration for 26 years, the democrats have won a swift campaign and predicted victory for their mayoralty candidate, William S. Blackett, a banker, against his republican opponent, William van Rensselaer Irving, formerly commission of public safety.

New York Election

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Men and women voters of New York city, 1,253,940 of whom are entitled to cast their ballots, went to the polls today to elect a new city administration, one state senator; 62 assemblymen, and several judges and county officers. The polls opened at 6 a. m., and will close at 6 p. m.

While there were seven candidates for mayor, the choice lay between John F. Hyland, democratic incumbent, and Henry H. Curran, republican, running on a coalition ticket. Democratic headquarters predicted Hyland's reelection by more than 100,000, while Curran's campaign managers claimed that their candidate would win by 150,000. Impartial observers generally agreed that the women voters, 447,015 of whom are registered, held the balance of power and both sides made a strong appeal for the women's vote.

The campaign was waged on comparatively few issues. Mayor Hyland urged his reelection on the ground that he had maintained a five cent fare on the subways and elevated railroads; that he had freed the city of organized vice and gambling dens and provided an efficient and economical administration. Mr. Curran charged the mayor and his subordinates with incompetency, failure to provide sufficient facilities for school children, plunging the city into debt and caused a disorganization and deterioration of its transit facilities.

Mr. Curran made his final appeal to the voters last night. Wireless broadcasts into a radio mouthpiece at the High bridge wireless station, his words were flashed to 15,000 stations in and about New York. Mayor Hyland was forced to cancel three eleven-hour speaking engagements because of a throat affliction.

Socialist leaders admitted their mayoralty candidate, Augustus Jacobson, had no chance to be elected, but they were claiming six aldermanic seats; six seats in the state assembly from the greater city, and one Bronx county officer. The other mayoralty candidates were Jerome T. De Hunt, farmer-laborer; George K. Hinds, prohibitionist; John P. Quinn, social laborer; Joseph E. Miller, single tax, and Tom Giltner, workers' league (communists). The latter's name was not on the ballot because he is serving a sentence in Sing Sing, and was to be written in by his supporters.

The other principal candidates: Charles C. Lockwood, republican and Charles L. Craig, democrat, for comptroller, and Vincent Giltroy, republican and Murray Hilbert, democrat, for president of the board of aldermen. Five borough presidents are also to be elected, one of the candidates for the presidency of the borough of Manhattan being Mrs. Rose Pastor Stokes, communist candidate.

Chief interest so far as women were concerned, centered in the contest for register of New York county in which all the principal candidates were women. They were Helen Varick Boswell, republican; Annie Matthews, democrat, Olga Lund, socialist and Grace Scribner, farmer-laborer.

Early balloting was unusually brisk, with women reported in the majority at many polling places. Hundreds of housewives lined up at the booths with milk pails on their arms, making one trip serve both for the performance of their civic duties and the acquisition of baby's strike-bound breakfast.

Several women's organizations sent workers out to care for babies while mothers voted. Others opened nurseries where babies could be checked. Mayor Hyland, accompanied by Mrs. Hyland, went to the polls in Brooklyn at 9 o'clock.

WARE WASTE AND WEAR WELL!

Human Bodies Are Poisoned by Their Own Waste. Most Illnesses Are Preventable.

The human body has to be heated and fine foods burned inside the body produce much waste. All this waste should be removed from the body regularly, thoroughly, daily, by the eliminative organs—which are the bowels, kidneys, skin, and to some extent the lungs. These should act in harmony.

If the bowels are inactive extra effort is required of the others, which easily become deranged. Many medicines will force bowel action temporarily but the after-effects are harmful. Many remedies are advertised, some of which have proved year after year to be reliable, efficient, and without harmful action or effect. Take Beecham's Pills for example. For over 70 years Beecham's Pills has been a household word all over the world. 70 years of use by all sorts of folks, men, women and even children, have proven first, that Beecham's Pills do what is claimed for them; second, that they are harmless, do not produce bad effects. Some medicine forces Nature to unnatural action. Other medicines, like those contained in Beecham's Pills assist Nature, act mildly, persuade and hence produce no harmful effects. It is common to find families in which Beecham's have been used by several generations, their use handed down from father to son and from mother to daughter.

That's the best possible recommendation for any remedy. Every druggist sells Beecham's, is glad to do so because he knows that their reputation has been won by merit.

Why Stagg and Wilce Are Great

By ROY GROVE
Year in and year out Ohio State and Chicago have been the most consistent contenders for the title of the Big Ten conference.

And this, despite the fact that coaches at the two schools are opposites. Wilce at Ohio State is a coach of the modern school. Stagg at Chicago is a mentor of the old football school, who has been on the coaching lines for years, but who, unlike many of the older coaches at the big schools, has kept pace with the changes in the gridiron game.

Both Wilce and Stagg owe their success to the main to one thing—they work constantly for the future. Too many of the present-day mentors are satisfied, after building up a top-notch team, to ride along on the glory of the showing that flashy team brings them. And then, in a year or two, the stars leave school and the team goes into a slump for the next couple of seasons.

Warren Second String

Not so Wilce and Stagg. No matter how great an aggregation of pigskin pushers they may turn out, you'll still find this pair playing just as much if not more attention to the second string men. For it is from the ranks of these that the future greats will arise.

Stagg for years has centered his attention on developing great quarterbacks. His belief is, a star field marshal can get a No. 1 results from even a mediocre team. That belief was shared by Napoleon, you remember, for the great French leader made the crack that the size of the army didn't make so much difference as long as the leader was always with it.

ney, the quarters of Chicago's present team, are only a few of the field marshals that Stagg has developed to lead his team. And the result of his work is shown by the fact that both Eckersall and Steffen made the All-American with ease. It was Romney who scored all the points in the 9 to 0 defeat of Princeton by Chicago. He carried the ball over for a touchdown and kicked a field goal.

Around the Big Ten Conference a slight relief went up when Pete Stinchcomb left Ohio State. Other teams breathed easier with the star halfback out of the way. For State up to that time had shown nothing that appeared classy enough to take the All-American star's place. But they might have saved their breath. For Wilce, with his customary caution, had an ace up his sleeve.

Somebody ought to wise up these prize fighters that rasslin' rules ain't got nothin' to do with prize fightin'.

The guy who took the roughness out of rasslin' must have just come from a prize fight.

Why shouldn't a prize fighter go on the stage? They make good at the box office.

Shurtleff's Head Only One This Story Needs

"SCRAPPY" SHURTLEFF, BROWN'S CENTRE

By N.E.A. Service
PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 7.—Never wearing a head gear and with the sleeves of his jersey always rolled up nearly to his elbows, Fred Shurtleff, Brown's scrappy centre and one of the leading centre men of the east, always presents a spectacle on the gridiron. For four years Shurtleff has not missed a minute from a game through injuries, and Coach B. N. Robinson says that he well deserves the name of "Scrappy." Always in the thick of the fray and usually at the bottom of the heap when there is one, Shurtleff can be found.

As a snapper back, he has not made a bad pass in two seasons, and when it comes to defensive playing, Coach Robinson has him backing up the line just as Glenn Warner has the mighty Herb Stein backing up the Panther line.

And Shurtleff does his work in grand style, for he is not afraid to hurt himself into a mass of tying human beings and he is not afraid to leave his feet in order to make a tackle. Fully 50 per cent of the tackles made by Brown this year may be credited to Shurtleff.

"Head gears are no good; you have to spend too much time pulling them this way or that way and I've never found any use for them," said Shurtleff, when asked why he did not wear one.

This is Shurtleff's last season, and everyone is pulling for him to go through this season without an injury. He would rather play football than eat. He is the first man out for practice each afternoon and one of the last to leave.

"Oh, for a team of Shurtleffs!" said Coach Robinson recently. "There is a fighter who never knows when he is licked."

WILL SERVE WARRANTS

Federal Officers to Get After Local Delinquent Federal Taxpayers

Delinquent federal tax payers, beware!
The United States government is after you.
Revenue officers J. R. Harrington and R. D. Donoghue announced today they had received warrants to serve on delinquent federal tax payers. This money, due the government, must be paid and the government is going to see that it is or obtain a good reason for non-payment.

The government feels it has been patient and has given its debtors every chance possible to meet the payments and intends to act without further delay. Investigation shows that taxes as far back as 1916 have not been paid in some cases. There are a great many others who have not paid more recent taxes.

The government does not like to prosecute, does not want to prosecute; what the government wants is the money.

Officers Harrington and Donoghue have office hours in the federal building every Monday from 9:30 a. m. to 12:30, and are ready to receive payments or to aid in any way possible by furnishing information on federal tax questions.

On the income tax many have neglected to pay other than the first payment in the case of the quarterly payment plan. A number have paid the first two installments, and have neglected to pay the third. The last will be due December 15. The office will be kept open all day in all probability, in addition to the regular Monday office hours.

After that preparations will be commenced to get ready for the filing of another year's report. Just what the rate will be and the amount taxable has not been definitely settled upon at the present. The local officers have not yet been informed as to the changes. About the middle of February the office will be kept open daily until the time elapses for the filing of the 1921 return.

At the present time the officers keep busy investigating reports made in 1920 and performing other duties connected with their office. They have charge of all revenue matters with the exception of those pertaining to prohibition which are handled by a separate force.

BRITISH PRAY FOR THE SUCCESS OF CONFERENCE

LONDON, Nov. 7.—(By the Associated Press)—The religious world of Great Britain is deeply impressed with the Washington conference.

In conformity with the appeal of the archbishop of Canterbury, prayers were offered yesterday in all the Anglican churches for the conference. Like procedure was followed in non-Conformist churches and Cardinal Bourne's appeal for the same purpose was also effective in the English Roman Catholic churches.

In all the Jewish synagogues special prayers will be offered next Saturday for the success of the conference. Even Imam Mustapha Kadh, religious head of the Moslem community in England, whose mosque is at Watling in Surrey, will pray to the Almighty next Friday to guide the counsellors of the nations represented at Washington.

ASSASSINATION OF HARA

Station Master at Tokio Arrested and Held for Complicity in Crime

TOKIO, Nov. 7.—(By the Associated Press)—Elgoro Hashimoto, assistant station master at the Otsuka railway station, where Premier Takashi Hara was assassinated Friday night, has been arrested, charged with complicity in the crime. About 20 other employees at the station were released after being questioned.

Ryohi Nakoka, the assassin, insists, the police say, that he had not accomplices. The police believe, however, that the stationmaster's death was brought about through a conspiracy. This belief is strengthened by the fact that a well-dressed, unidentified man was seen hurrying from the station at the moment Nakoka thrust his sword into the premier's breast.

ASSASSINATION WON'T CHANGE JAPAN'S POLICY

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—Japan's policy at the Washington arms conference will be unchanged by the assassination of Premier Hara, today declared Kotaro Mochizuki, member of the house of representatives, who came to this country as a representative of the Kensei Kai or opposition party.

"I read with indignation and sorrow the account of Hara's assassination," asserted Mochizuki. "Though I am a representative of the opposition party I can safely say that whoever may be Hara's successor, Japan's policy in the Washington conference will be unchanged, because the whole Japanese nation desires co-operation with America for disarmament."

URGE ADDITIONAL FEDERAL JUDGES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Attorney General Daugherty, who with Chief Justice Taft appeared before the senate judiciary committee today in connection with legislation providing for additional federal judges, told the committee there was evidence that the recent "crime wave" was gradually diminishing.

Makes a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made cough syrups, and costs about $1. Ready and quickly prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

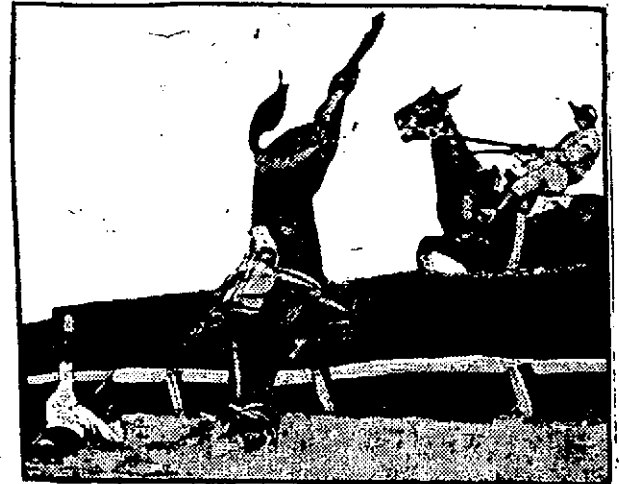

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

The operations of the veterans' bureau clean-up squad were resumed at the rooms of the local Red Cross on Merrimack street today. Yesterday the first day of the squad's work, about 150 ex-service men, holding claims against the government, were assisted by the members of the squad in getting their claims in shape so that results from the Boston office might be expedited.

The squad will remain in this city until Saturday. Today the office will be open between 1 and 5 in the afternoon and 7 and 9 in the evening. Every veteran of the world war, who wishes to file a disability claim, whose claim has been adjusted to his dissatisfaction, or who wishes any information in regard to compensation, vocational training, medical treatment, allotment or government insurance should appear before the squad while here this week. The clean-up squad is composed of a claims examiner, a vocational training expert, a compensation officer, and a medical examiner, besides representatives of the Red Cross and the American Legion.

Mr. Abraham Patten, in charge of the squad, who wishes to appear before the squad to do so early in the day and not to wait until the late afternoon as is the usual case. He states the veterans' bureau is making every effort to bring about satisfactory adjustment between the government and the claim-holder and the visit of the clean-up squad here is the result of a recent conference between Col. Chas. H. Forbes, chief of the veterans' bureau at Washington and Dr. Arthur Bridges, in charge of the New England district.

Misses of red tape are hereby eliminated. Mr. Patten asserts, by the squad assisting the men in preparing their claims. While here the squad will visit disabled veterans in nearby hospitals and ex-service men who are bed-ridden at home, helping them in any way they are able. Besides Lowell the squad will assist veterans from Billerica, Dracut, Dunstable, Tyngsboro, Westford, Littleton, Chelmsford, Carlisle, Tewksbury, Bedford, Burlington and Wilmington.

Assisting Mr. Patten, who is a Salem lawyer, in the service of the bureau at Boston for nearly two years, is a squad of efficient men and women, both from the bureau and the Red Cross. Mrs. Cassie Cronwell, representing the New England division of the Red Cross, is in charge of the claims department. The compensation expert is ex-representative Edward Dalley, while the medical officers are Dr. C. J. McCallum and Dr. Malne. Miss Caroline H. Brown, of the local branch of the Red Cross, is executive secretary, assisted by Miss Ruth Gagnier. Acting as secretary to the medical officers is Miss Elizabeth Flanagan, while others helping the squad in the claims work are Arthur J. Brown, of the local Red Cross, Mrs. Helen Latour, Miss Catherine Stewart and Miss Elizabeth Cullen.

Tomorrow and for the rest of the week the squad will be in session between the hours of 10 and 1 o'clock and 2 and 6 p.m.

MILK BELOW STANDARD

Milk Inspector Says Cans or Large Containers Should

That so much milk in this city is found to be below standard is due to the method generally used here of serving it from cans or large containers instead of in bottles prepared for use by the wholesale dealers. Milk Inspector Melvin F. Master told Judge Fisher in district court this morning while prosecuting an alleged violation of the milk laws. The defendant, Leopold J. Jasmin, of Thordike street, said to be a lunch cart proprietor, pleaded not guilty, stating that he disposed of the milk as he received it from the dealer. He said he purchased it in large cans and sold it by the glass, drawing it out of a large container. The court imposed a $10 fine.

Mr. Master told the court that in many cases the alleged offender is not aware of having milk below standard in his possession but owing to a poor system of serving it when a sample is taken it is always found wanting in conformity to the standard set down by law. This is due, he said, to the system of buying milk by cans. The top milk of the can is usually rich but the other is poor, the can never being shaken by the clerk, he stated. If the milk is poured into a container of large size as is usually done in small lunch rooms or carts the rich part of the liquid remains at the bottom while the milk at the top remains very weak. Inspector Master stated the best way of selling milk is by the bottle method used in the larger restaurants, whereby the clerk or waitress merely serves the milk as it comes to them well prepared in tightly sealed bottles.

Joseph Ferreira, charged with making an illegal sale of liquor, was given a continuance to November 13. Two drunkenness cases completed a brief session. Both defendants pleaded guilty and were suspended to the house of correction. Probation Officer Cronin to keep a watch on their behavior for the next six months.

LOWELL MEN ARRAIGNED IN CAMBRIDGE

Frank Urbanek, John Bardzek and Thomas Wolanin, all of Lowell, were arraigned before Judge Brown in the superior court at Cambridge today, on a charge of illegally removing and concealing property. Owing to new recent developments, the trial was put over to a later date. The defendants are charged with having removed, early last summer, three truck loads of dry goods from the store formerly owned by one Emil Dudas on Lakeview avenue. The latter claims to have sold the store to Urbanek and Bardzek, taking a mortgage of $1000 on the store contents as part payment. Shortly after the goods were hauled away, the Lowell police traced two of the truck loads to Lawrence and arrested the three defendants. The third load was located in a house on Old road, Dracut, last Sunday evening, by Chief Cullinan and officers of the Dracut police who received a "tip" that the dry goods were concealed in partitions of that house. The goods proved to be more than $1000 worth of property said to have been taken from the Lakeview store being found inside an all completely latched and plastered over. As yet no additional charges in reference to this loot have been brought against the three defendants, the local police and Chief Cullinan not yet having completed an investigation.
